Vol. XIV, No. 29 — Lafayette — Orinda, California — Friday, September 28, 1956 — Ten Cents

MERGING TRAFFIC a short distance west of the Pleasant Hill Road Interchange project presents situations which may prove hazardous, as shown in this picture. Headed westward are two cars—the one at the left has just come over the recently completed bridge; the one on the road to the right has come from Pleasant Hill Road and the underpass beneath the bridge and is just about to go onto Mt. Diablo Boulevard. Drivers must be careful in order to void collisions.

EBMUD Plans to Sell 6400 Acres

Land Action Will Follow Sewerage, Erosion Steps

Some 6400 acres of East Bay Municipal Utility District land on both the San Pablo Dam Road and Bear Creek Road sides of San Pablo Reservoir will be offered for sale as soon as prerequisite steps are taken, John W. McFarland, EBMUD general manager, said Monday.

McFarland told the weekly breakfast meeting of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board at El Nido, Lafayette, that this land would be placed on the market after it has been sewered and after such problems as erosion control have been solved.

THE ACREAGE starts at the intersection of Bear Creek Road, San Pablo Dam Road and Wildcat Canyon Road, and is over a mile north of Orinda Village.

C. P. Tanner, director of customer relations for EBMUD, said yesterday that preliminary studies are being made by the county, the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District and the EBMUD engineering staff.

"There are many special factors which must be studied before the land can be sold," Tanner said. "Sewerage installation and erosion control are the major ones."

TANNER ADDED that the land, when sold, would "undoubtedly be used for residential development."

He stressed, however, that "very careful studies" will have to be made and that sewerage and erosion problems must be solved before the land can be offered for sale.

"The EBMUD board is hopeful that studies can be completed in the fairly near future, but some time will elapse before the land can be placed on the market," Tanner said.

The perspective of selling the 3400 acres is in line with the EBMUD policy of placing on the market and returning to the tax rolls land which is no longer needed for operation of the district, Tanner observed.

Planners OK Master Plan for Lafayette

Garden-Type Apartments Envisaged for Moraga Rd.

The County Planning Commission Tuesday night unanimously approved the Lafayette master plan proposed by its technical staff.

Commission action came at the close of an hour-and-a-half public hearing session.

This session was the second, or continued, session of the second pubic hearing. It proved to be the final session before the county planners, as the commission, prior to approval, officially closed the hearing.

In its action, the commission did not include the recommendations of the Lafayette Improvement Association for a separate designation of Happy Valley and for medium density for Moraga Road between School Street and St. Mary's Road.

Instead, the commission kept its preferred designation of low density for Happy Valley and multi-family dwelling for the Moraga Road area, with the qualification that the Moraga Road section be planned for garden-type apartments and not for multiple family use as now specified in the county zoning ordinance.

Regarding a third suggestion by the Lafayette Improvement Association, that the shopping center shown for the Hough Tract be stipulated not to permit business fronting on Brook Street, Associate County Planner Ed Radosevich later said that the technical staff feels "somewhat the same as the Lafayette Improvement Association on that matter."

"This point was pretty well agreed upon at the September 5 conference the planning staff had with the association," he said.

About 35 interested persons were present at the hearing session in Martinez.

After Radosevich had presented the county planning staff's proposals for the Lafayette master plan, speakers addressed the commission.

George Walker, president of the Lafayette Improvement Association; William Zion, chairman of the planning committee of the Lafayette Improvement Association; Douglas Buffington, representing the Paradise Acres Homeowners Association and the Contra Costa County Commuters Association, all argued in favor of Lafayette Improvement Association recommendations.

Then Attorney Sam Hall, representing a number of property owners in Happy Valley and along Moraga Road urged that the master plan be adopted immediately, as proposed by the technical staff.

Larry Blakesley, president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, stated the chamber was in favor of adoption of the master plan as proposed by the technical staff. He was joined by Fred Wagner of the chamber.

William Culbertson and George Jenkins of Herman Drive argued for the LIA suggestions.

Russell Bruzzone stated that professional planners had told him that multiple-family use would be the best for Moraga Road, and he added that his family, as owner of considerable property in Happy Valley, had not been aware of the change from R-1 (5000 square feet) to S (one acre) zoning in Happy Valley when the county zoning ordinance was adopted about nine years ago.

Robert McConaughy of Lafayette Homelands endorsed the LIA stand for medium density classification in the vicinity of Town Hall, although he said the Homelands would not oppose high density — as previously suggested by the LIA board — provided the area remain single-family residential.

Norman A. Passur, president of the Saranap Improvement Association, said his group was in favor of adoption of the plan as proposed by the technical staff.

W. H. Somerton said he felt the commission should heed the LIA recommendations, and that he believed the planning staff should have come forth with two or three possible master plans.

On motion of Commissioner Arthur Young, seconded by Commissioner Robert Elliott, the technical staff was instructed to prepare a resolution for adoption of a Lafayette general plan as presented by the staff, with the following reservation:

That the designation of multiple-family as shown on the plan for the Moraga Road area does not refer to the multiple-family zones which are now under ordinance.

Young stated he felt that high-class garden-type apartments should be placed in that area.

Associate County Planner Anthony DeJesus reported that the planning staff and the commissioners have already conferred informally on a possible future ordinance for garden-type apartment zones.

Radosevich said yesterday that the staff findings will probably be ready in "a couple of weeks."

"The staff has certainly enjoyed working with Zion and Walker," Radosevich told The Sun.

Walker yesterday commented: "The action of the Planning Commission is generally in accord with the desires expressed by the Lafayette Improvement Association.

"The failure to accede to the immediate modifications proposed by the LIA is somewhat disappointing, though the result to be attained by the proposed modifications may later be effectuated by the proposed resolution now under further study by the planning staff."

New Post Office Opens Tomorrow; Call it 'Rheem'

The new post office in Rheem Center will be opened tomorrow as scheduled, but it will not be called the "Rheem City" Post Office, as the Post Office Department first proposed.

The office will be called simply "Rheem".

When the department first announced this month that a "Rheem City" post office would be established less than two miles from the present Moraga Post Office, area residents began protesting.

Culminating in a protest meeting September 15, objections asserted (1 there is no place in the area called "Rheem City", and (2) they had moved to Moraga to get away from "cities".

Announcement of the new post office came shortly after rural home delivery had been instituted out of the Moraga Post Office, and confusion over how the establishment of the new office might affect the old post office ensued.

Although Regional Operations Manager O. H. Fuller had indicated at the time that the Moraga Post Office might be affected by the new office, he told The Sun yesterday that there would be no conflict between the offices.

"The Post Office Department saw a need for another post office to give people of that area proper service," Fuller said.

He added that the mail carrier, Mrs. John Thune, would also deliver mail out of the Rheem office.

Speculation that the present Moraga Post Office may be moved to Rheem Center was also discredited by Fuller. The manager said he did not expect any change in the present set up.

District Operations Manager Robert Marshall surmissed recently that a reason the office would be established in Rheem Center is that the Rheem Acceptance Corporation alone is responsible for an excess of $5000 annually in post office receipts.

Handling that amount alone would qualify a post office for a third class rating.

Fuller backed the view that the Rheem Acceptance Corporation Corporation prospective receipts were instrumental in influencing the department in its decision.

He added, however, that the presence of a big business "would draw a lot of people to the area, and there should be facilities to serve them."

Postmaster of the Rheem office will be Mrs. Bert Williams of Moraga Road, who has been undergoing training from Mrs. Eleanor Dickenson, Moraga Post Office postmaster.

Freeway Route Hearing Will Be Wednesday

The California Highway Commission will hold a public hearing at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, in Miramonte High School aduitorium in southern Orinda, in connection with its consideration of the adoption of a freeway routing for State Highway Route 233 (Shepherd Canyon Freeway) between Park Boulevard at Eastwood Court in Oakland and Bollinger Canyon Road east of Moraga in Contra Costa County.

At the public hearing, the results of Division of Highways studies of possible routes will be presented.

Local authorities, civic groups and interested individuals are invited by the commission to present any data and information which will assist the commission in determination of the most advantageous route for all concerned, it is announced by State Director of Public Works Frank B. Durkee, commission chairman.

STATE HIGHWAY Route 233 was added to the State Highway System by the Legislature in 1953 and is described partly as being from Mountain Boulevard near the intersection of Park Boulevard in Oakland to State Sign Route 24, Lafayette.

No traversable route is maintained by the state at present, and future development will be on new location, including the section for which a route is now being considered.

AS THE HEARING date neared, controversy over the routing of the western leg of the Shepherd Canyon Freeway continued.

At the Orinda Association board meeting Monday night in the Orinda School library, President Mel Arighi asked Holland DuBois to represent the association at next Wednesday's hearing.

DuBois agreed to do this and to present the association stand against routes 1 (Redwood Canyon), 3 (loop south of Moraga townsite) and 4 (the state-favored route, an approximate straight-line course through the vicinity of Miramonte High School and Moraga townsite) and in favor of route 2 (Indian Valley).

DURING DISCUSSION on the subject at the Orinda Association board meeting, Roy Clark, association representative to the Diablo Highway Improvement Federation board, stated he has thus far heard no valid engineering arguments against route 4.

Route 4 is opposed by six southern Orinda neighborhood associations as well as by the Orinda Association, but it is supported by the Diablo Highway Improvement Federation.

DIRECTORS OF the Contra Costa County Development Association last week, at their monthly meeting, expressed confidence in state engineers to select a proper route and declined to voice an opinion favoring any of the suggested routes for the proposed Shepherd Canyon Freeway.

Edward M. Larmer of Walnut Creek, chairman of the association's highway committee, placed before the directors a request from a legal firm representing Orinda organizations in which the directors were asked to go on record as opposing the state's so-called Red Route, which would traverse Moraga Valley.

After hearing expressions that the association's sphere is "getting needed roads for the county and not deciding locations," the directors unanimously adopted a resolution voicing the sectional and controversial points involved and "expressing confidence in the highway department to decide the question on its engineering merits."

Vandals Damage Two School Buses

Vandals again damaged school buses in Orinda last weekend, with the result that two buses were temporarily out of service.

Acalanes District Supervisor of Transportation Rowland Coad reported to the sheriff's office that apparently the damage was done early Monday morning, shortly after midnight.

All the tail lights of one bus were smashed, evidently with rocks.

The lock of another bus was broken, and the bus was entered by the vandals, who took the ignition key. This removed this bus from service the next day.

THE TWO BUSES were among 12 parked in the Mobilgas service station on Orinda Highway, across the road from Orinda School. Buses serving grammar school and high school students in Orinda are parked there, by arrangement with the service station.

The sheriff's office informed Coad that it will fully cover the service station area at night and that anyone loitering there or tampering with the buses would be apprehended.

Parents of juveniles are responsible, Coad pointed out.

COAD SAID that, judging from the height of the tail lights, the vandals "would have ot be seventh graders, at least."

"It's a shame," he commented, "that a few children, apparently not being properly supervised at home, are endangering the privilege of hundreds riding the buses."

Last week's vandalism was the second attack against school buses in Orinda in recent months. Last February windows and windshields of seven buses were smashed.

The Acalanes transportation system serves Orinda, Lafayette and Moraga grammar school students and Orinda, Lafayette and Walnut Creek high school students.

Incorporation Election Delayed

Stumbling blocks in obtaining petition signatures have caused the Orinda election for proposed incorporation to be delayed until March or April instead of January, the originally set date.

This was disclosed Monday night at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Orinda Association, held in the Orinda School Library.

Paul Pollaczek and F. A. Sawyer, co-chairmen of the association's Incorporation Committee, disclosed that more than 2000 signatures have been put on the petitions requesting the election.

Not sure whether the necessary 25 per cent of the landowners of the proposed city, representing 25 per cent of the assessed valuation, have already signed the petition, the chairmen announced that the drive for signatures was continuing, and that several areas remained to be covered or recanvassed.

A tabulation to determine whether the petitions have the necessary signatures will be started as soon as the petitions are collected.

The drive, however, has fallen behind schedule and the possibility of a January election has been eliminated, Pollaczek stated.

By missing the January election, the proposed city would not be put on the tax rolls, and thus would lose an approximate $63,500 income from general property taxes, he added.

Lafayette Fire House OK'd as Substation Site

The soon-to-be-displaced sheriff's substation, seeking a home to replace its present Walnut Creek office, has been granted Board of Supervisors approval to locate in Lafayette.

Proposed site is the main station of the Lafayette Fire District on Moraga Boulevard.

THE SUBSTATION'S present quarters in the Lucas building at Mt. Diablo and Oakland Boulevards in Walnut Creek must be vacated by November 1 to make way for future freeway construction.

Under an agreement, the fire district will construct a 1,400 to 1,500 square foot addition to its building on Moraga Road. The county will lease the addition as a sheriff's substation for five years at $140 to $150 a month.

The Lafayette substation will have individual offices for sheriff's personnel and an overnight lockup. It will contain more space than the Walnut Creek station, officials said.

Several Walnut Creek property owners appeared before the board Tuesday with offers to build and lease office space to the county, but the board favored the agreement with the fire district.

LAFAYETTE AUTHORITIES have expressed the feeling that the substation would be more centrally located there than in Walnut Creek.

County Administrator D. M. Teeter, Sheriff Harry Brown and Inspector Norman Wilson, who is in charge of the Walnut Creek substation, had been searching for several weeks for new quarters.

Teeter said quarters available for substation use in the central part of the county are "practically non-existent" or "cost more than we're willing to pay."

New Moraga School in Sight

Negotiations are under way by the Moraga School District for a new elementary school on a ten-acre site on the north side of Donald Drive near Jonas Hill Road.

A potential barrier to the negotiations fell Tuesday when the Planning Commission gave unanimous approval to the proposed school.

Appearing at the hearing was Moraga School principal Charles E. Toll, who announced that the district was negotiating for the site with Donald Rheem, owner of the site.

The proposed school would be located near Rheem Center in Moraga and, according to Toll, would be named the Donald Rheem School. The school would accommodate approximately 600 pupils, the principal added.

In other business, the Planning Commission also gave approval to the rezoning of several Lafayette lots to Multiple-dwelling zones.

Included were lots 39, 27, 26, 25 and 24 of blocks 2, 3 and 4 of the Bickerstaff Tract. These lots front on the westerly side of Chestnut and Walnut Streets and include approximately 1.5 acres.

Speakers' Club To Seat Officers

The new slate of officers of the young Larinda Toastmasters Cub will be installed next Wednesday at a 7:30 p.m. dinner-meeting in the Danville Hotel.

Elected recently, the new officers will take office Monday. They include:

Bill Thaler, president; George McCormack, educational vice-president; Gordon Forrest, administrative vice-president; Vince Gates, secretary; Mel Melendreas, treasurer; and Dick Elliott, sergeant-at-arms.

Being replaced in office are President George Sanko, Educational Vice-president Bill Thaler, Administrative Vice-president Forrest Bryant, Secretary Ken Anderson, Treasurer Rich Sampley, and Sergeant-at-arms Dave Baird.

Don Student Body Card Sales at 93%

Ninety-three per cent of the Acalanes student body has officially joined the Associated Student organization through the purchase of student body cards.

The student body card sampaign, headed by Student Body Treasurer Sheila Fox, reached its climax Tuesday. Cards were sold by student body officers and members of the Don rally committee headed by Marilyn Englehard and John Cadwell.

Public 'Meet The Candidates' Night Proposed

The prospect of a "Meet the Candidates" night October 22 was brought up by the Orinda Association's Board of Directors at a board meeting Monday night at the Orinda School Library.

Hoping to have both supervisorial candidates and candidates for "any and all" political offices attend the public meeting, the directors appointed Marvin Baker to organize plans for the night.

The directors also proposed that a speaker be acquired to explain the various propositions and issues that will appear on the November ballot.

In discussing the coming association membership drive, President Mel Arighi proposed a house-to-house membership campaign, similar to that conducted by the association last year.

Vice-president Gene Estes was assigned to speak to Bill Thurston, chairman of the association's Civic Affairs Committee, in an attempt to find someone to head the campaign.

Formulative plans for the drive are scheduled to be made at the next board meeting October 8.

In preparation for the association's annual election of directors, slated for November, Director Paul Pollaczek suggested that the Civic Affairs Committee, functioning as an association nominating committee, allow several candidates to run for each of the four vacancies.

Estes was asked to relay the request to the committee.

The directors are to be chosen for 2-year terms to replace Arighi, Frederic Sawyer, Caroline Harrison and Pollaczek.

Summer's Gone? Who Sez So?

Fall is here, but the weatherman doesn't seem to know it.

All this week he reported fair skies and mild temperatures, and local residents were still decked out in summer togs and swimsuits.

A high reading of 93 was recorded in Orinda early in the week, and from there the weather was just about perfect.

Here's what the weatherman said:

Youth Problems Eternal, Young Essayist Contends

(Editor's note: Margie L. Williams' essay on "Youth's Problems of the Future" was one of three which tied for first place among 1955 graduates of the Pine Grove School in a contest on that subject conducted by the Orinda Lions Club. The composition writing contest is an annual Lion event.)

By MARGIE L. WILLIAMS

Youth problems in the future are about the same (only more complex) as they were when our adventurous and ambitious forefathers landed on Plymouth Rock; or started the Gold Rush and other ventures.

The most important problem as I see it, is how to become a well rounded, calm individual capable of getting along happily with the people with whom he comes in contact. This requires him to learn to make decisions for himself. It involves responsibility. Responsibility to himself and to others.

It means growing up, maturing, learning to cope with problems on his own. By solving one problem after another a person develops patterns of thought and action which become part of him and which he draws upon when problems arise. His reasoning and judgement are strengthened in this way.

This problem requires youth to develope faith and trust in God, in himself, and in the future. Faith in God teaches us that the best side of our nature can win if we really want it to. This directs our conscience and keeps us on the right track.

Since a person has freedom of choice he is apt to choose wisely, (when problems arise) if he develops patterns of right thinking such as sincerity, love, forgiveness and a real desire to help others as well as himself.

The problem of education is more concerned today with preparing the students to meet life's situations rather than memorizing too many facts.

There are many modern means of learning such as television, phonographs, radio, movies, books, etc.

Some districts have problems such as over crowded schools, lack of teachers, need of the larger and better equipment and recreation centers. These problems interfere with good relations between students and teachers.

Many people when reaching high school decide all of a sudden to drop out of school. This may occur because of problems with getting along with everyone at school, trouble in their church or at home. We should all try to help these people to make them better and happy.

Narcotics and drugs are a serious problem which unless corrected will become extremely serious in the future.

It is important for youth today to realize the danger of drugs and narcotics. A person who is a narcotic user becomes sick and a slave to the drug and will go to any length to acquire it; even to breaking the law and violence.

Leisure time is another problem for youth to consider. More and more time for leisure is the lot of millions of Americans drawing the highest wages in history and working shorter hours than before.

They have time and money to spend on recreation whether it be music, art, sports, travel or first learning to relax in their own way and live rich full lives and become happy, well adjusted people.

The opposite side of leisure is important to consider also. The less fortunate individuals who, through no fault of their own, perhaps, have fallen into habit of weakness or violence.

The problem here is to help these people back on the right track, realizing that they have the same desires, characteristics, and strength within themselves as the more fortunate ones. They need to be guided and directed towards doing their best.

Thus the automobile is a necessity rather than a luxury. Transportation is connected with road-building and parking areas which are inadequate for the millions of cars on the highways.

This problem is an important one because the simple things of life should be enjoyed. Nature's wonderland includes the stars and a full moon on a warm, clear night; orchards in full bloom, waterfalls, snow scenes in the mountains; deserts covered with sage brush and many others. Improved transportation makes these gifts of nature available to all.

With everyone working together towards the same goal, we as teenagers may solve the problems of the future by keeping in mind the golden rule. By doing unto others as we would have them do unto us many of these problems would simplify themselves.

MEADOW POOL in Orinda was officially dedicated last Sunday at a program attended by more than 300 persons. Here is a view of some of the activity at the dedication. The program featured synchronized swimming to music, by girls representing the Oakland Moose Club.

February Bypass Bids Possible

There is a strong possibility that bids for construction of the $7 million Walnut Creek Bypass will be called for by February.

This would indicate the actual work would begin about two months later, in April, according to the opinion of Division of Highways Right-of-Way Agent Frank Cain, who spoke at a City Planning Commission meeting Wednesday night.

Right-of-way acquisitions have been proceeding for several months, and it was earlier thought they will be completed early in the year.

BEFORE BIDS CAN be advertised for, the State Highway Commisison will have to allocate in its 1957-58 budget money for all or part of the project.

This would include the north and south legs, joined at the juncture of Mt. Diablo and Oakland Boulevards, and a third leg, which extends west to the Pleasant Hill interchange.

Cain spoke during consideration of an application by Mrs. Edith DeBisschop of 1641 Lilac Drive, to rezone her property for establishment of a nursing home.

Cain told the planners that the land would be taken by the freeway to be built in the area from the Castle Hill Road area north to Walden.

MRS. DeBISSCHOP said that she had held up plans for the nursing home for six years due to the freeway.

Planner Commissioner Chairman Morrie Thompson interjected that the city has been repeatedly in quandaries because the engineering department has been unable to get the exact route of future roadways.

Cain replied that he was surprised, and that he was sure that the information was available.

Mrs. DeBisschop was granted a C-1 restricted business zone for her property, and a use permit, with the proviso that no major alterations be made to increase the valuation.

The Walnut Creek bypass is designed to route Main Street traffic to a freeway to the west.

THERE HAVE BEEN several court actions, where property owners felt that the state did not offer enough money in normal negotiations.

It was earlier intended that work would proceed simultaneously north and south from the boulevard intersection, and would take about two years for completion.

The distance between the north and south extremes is 3.9 miles.

The new freeway is a part of the new priority interstate highway system which is for use in a national emergency.

Sheriff Asks State Pin Ball Rule

Brown Scores Supervisors For Their Failure to Act

Sheriff Harry A. Brown notified the Board of Supervisors yesterday that he will seek a ruling directly from the state attorney general's office "as to the legality of pin ball machines that are readily convertible to 'multiple play'."

In a letter to the board, marked for the attention of Chairman H. L. (Jack) Cummings, the sheriff criticized the board for failure to illegalize all pin ball machines in the county.

He said that his purpose in seeking a ruling from the state attorney general is "so that without the formality of a written expression of your position on the desirability of this type of control, which would have been contained in an anti-pin ball machine ordinance, the sheriff's office will be able to cope with this matter."

"I WOULD BE derelict in my duty if I did not seek some immediate solution to this pressing law enforcement problem," Sheriff Brown stated.

The sheriff objected to the reported statement by the district attorney at Tuesday's supervisorial meeting that he had not appeared to support an anti-pin ball machine ordinance and an ordinance for the licensing of card rooms.

Brown reminded the supervisors that he had requested the two ordinances on July 26 — a card room licensing so that "proper law enforcement can be obtained," and an anti-pin ball machine ordinance because many legal pin ball machines can easily be convreetd into illegal, multiple-play machines, thus making it exeremely difficult to police pin ball machines in unincorporated areas.

BROWN ADDED that on August 7 and on still another occasion he appeared before the Board of Supervisors on these matters. At the latter time, he reported, he "discussed the matter fully, without any action" by the board.

"It therefore became evident," Brown continued, "that your board did not contemplate action on these pressing matters within the foreseeable future, so that on September 4, when these subjects were finally placed on your agenda, I assigned my undersheriff, John Jagard, to represent this department in the same manner as the district attorney, Mr. Francis Collins, assigns his deputies to represent him in an official capacity.

"IT IS UNFORTUNATE, indeed, that this type of criticism is leveled to obscure the issue which remains, that for some unfathomable reason your board is either not willing or not able to take the same type of positive action against pin ball machines that has been taken by practically every incorporated area within the county."

At the close of his letter, Sheriff Brown said:

"May I remind your board, that, in addition to these matters now under discussion, many months ago I requested a uniform traffic ordinance so that the many ordinances now in effect relative to parking and speed could be enforced.

"To date no ordinance or rough draft of a proposed ordinance has been submitted to me.

"It has always been my earnest desire to work in accord with all members of the county team. However, in this case my first duty clearly rests in maintaining top law enforcement within Contra Costa County."

'Isolation' of Church Brings Letter, Denial

Fears that the Valley Baptist Church on Creekside Drive will be made virtually inaccessible when the new freeway is constructed in that area were called "groundless" by Albert Simmons, assistant district engineer of the Division of Highways, San Francisco, today.

Simmons said that a "modern, freeway type connection, far superior to what they now have," will be constructed in the vicinity of Creekside and Orchard Roads, and that it will allow a quick trip for motorists enroute to the church.

THIS WAS in comment on a letter sent by the Rev. D. S. Bennett, pastor, to Assemblyman Donald Doyle, which stated in part, that "It is our understanding that Highway 21 will be constituted as a freeway, and the proposed relocation will not permit egress and ingress onto the new road, or will it to the present Highway 21."

Rev. Bennett continued, "The State Highway Department has informed us that the only access to Creekside Drive will be over a very circuitous road, which would make our church very difficult to find if a person was not acquainted with the route of travel, and also would pose an almost impossible traffic and parking problem.

". . . it is our considered opinion that a direct access should be provided for us and other property owners on Creekside Drive without too much difficulty . . ."

WHEN TOLD OF the letter, Simmons said "It is unfortuante that no one has come to our office and talked this over.

"We have gone to considerable expense to relocate a connection where Creekside is easily available to Highway 21."

He continued that major interchanges will connect the new freeway to Highway 21 near Orchard and Castle Hill Road, and that a "modern connection with two 12 foot lanes, and shoulders near Orchard will join Creekside and Highway 21.

The left turn, now so difficult at either Orchard or Castle Hill on Highway 21, will be made easy by a left turn storage space at that stipulated point, and also by the lighter traffic, due to the load borne by the freeway, he said.

MOTORISTS COMING from the north or south on Highway 21 will turn without trouble, and the interchanges and off ramps on the freeway will make easy access to and from the old Highway, said Simmons.

"And though we have purchased much land in that area, we don't plan to use all of it, and are open to agreement; if the church needs more parking space," he added.

In his letter, Rev. Benentt said, "Our investment in the site and improvement is well over $100,000 and when we complete our projected plan, our investment should total about $300,000.

"It is our considered opinion that if . . . (aid, . . . is not available to us, our entire site and improvements should be purchased because it would be impossible for us to continue our present and projected program. . ."

Civic Council Votes Thanks To County Heads

Two letters of appreciation were sent to county officials this week by the Planning and Zoning committe on behalf of the Pleasant Hill Civic Council.

The letters were sent to Desmond Teeter, county administrator and Thomas Heaton, director of the Contra Costa Planning Commission. The letters were drafted by Ralph Becker, chairman of the committee.

Copies were sent to Tom Shreve, president of the Pleasant Hill Civic Council; Phil Crocker of the Grayson Valley Improvement Association, George Honeggar of the Planning Commission, Supervisor Ray Taylor and The Sun.

The letters are as follows:

Dear Mr. Teeter:

The Pleasant Hill Civic Council and the Gracelands Improvement Association wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for the rapid and effective action you were able to initiate in establishing the recently enacted House Moving Ordinance.

Public trust was considerably enhanced by your solution to a very serious problem and we were once again reminded of the dependency of the unincorporated areas of Contra Costa County on competent county administration and the responsibility you shoulder.

I personally on several occasions have witnessed the fine administration of the Ordinance in the face of manpower handicaps.

We appreciate the spirit of the administration of the Ordinance to date and offer our services if we can contribute in any way.

Dear Mr. Heaton:

The Pleasant Hill Civic Council and the Grayson Valley Improvement Association are appreciative of the justice of the decision of the Planning Commisison regarding the Della Edmeades rezoning.

We would like to submit our recommendations to your staff as a follow up to the motion made by Commissioner Honnegar that your Staff initiate action to rezone the Edmeades property to establish a buffer between the N-B and R-A Zones. We feel the most appropriate zoning for this parcel would be N-R-A and ask that such zoning be incorporated in your request to the Commission.

We would appreciate your comments and a further opportunity to present our thoughts on the matter should you not agree with our recommendations.

Realtors Confab Starts Sunday

Several local realtors of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board have been selected to appear on the program of the 52nd annual convention of the California Real Estate Association to be held at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco on Sunday through Thursday, according to an announcement by Alex Cutler, general convention chairman.

Official delegates of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board and their alternates who will participate were announced yesterday by Barney Gilbert, president of the board.

Heading the official delegation will be A. J. "Buck" Johnson together with Thane Clark, Charles Bailey, R. W. Alexander, Fred Maisel, Bill Hayward, Ken Richardson, M. H. Binker, Harold Smith, Ray McCoy, John Loop, J. Sidney Graves, Al Ingalls, Vera Foss, Mildred Applegate, Walter Klein, Lamont Neumann, Jerry Friedrich, T. J. Roed, J. H. Carter and Gladys Nichols.

Board members participating on the convention program are: Harlan Geldermann, Ken Richardson, Bill Hayward, M. H. Binker and Barney Gilbert.

"We deem it an honor to have members of our board appear on the CREA convention program," said Barney Gilbert. "Our board has enjoyed participating in many local projects to build higher standards of business in this community and also has helped in similar statewide programs through its activities in the state association. The CREA convention always supplies an extremely constructive and inspirational program for our members who are able to leave their businesses to attend."

"Advance registrations indicate that this year's convention will be CREA record for San Francisco," Barney Gilbert reported, "and all of the attending realtors will be thoroughly occupied with the tremendous 4-day program that includes much of interest for all real estate people."

Among those to be honored at the President's Dinner Dance during the convention is Barney Gilbert for his leadership in the conduct of the local board, it was reported.

Formation of Taxing Distric In Pleasant Hill Considered

A separate taxing district may be formed in Pleasant Hill to finance its share of a joint engineering study of the water problem in Central Contra Costa County.

More than 75,000 persons in 10 geographic locations would be affected by the results of the study, said members of the Citizens Water Committee in joint session with Concord civic leaders in Concord Monday night.

THE CONCORD CITY Council voted to plan to seek a source of water supply directly from the United States Bureau of Reclamation.

The Pleasant Hill group will present its proposal that a joint study be taken at the Monday night session of the Concord City Council. The discussion on proposed water sources for Concord was held after the regular session of the City Council Monday night.

Both the Pleasant Hill group and the city council agreed on three separate studies to be made to determine the feasibility of formation of a public water system in three specific areas.

THE THREE STUDIES are: The City of Concord and environs; the Pleasant Hill area and the combined Concord-Pleasant Hill area.

John F. Baldwin, sixth district congressman, offered all out support to the City of Concord in its appeal to the US Bureau of Reclamation in its plea for direct purchase power for water from the federal government.

"I WOULD INTRODUCE a bill in the congress directing the Bureau to sell water to the city," said Baldwin in support of the proposed action by Concord.

Those present at the session were Mayor Krueger, Tom Coll, Don Campbell and Norbert Gehringer, Tom McBride, Baldwin, Yank Marcus, Frank Hanrahan, Craig Randall, Bob Weiben and Tom Shreve.

Concord City Council meetings are open to the public and start at 8 p.m.

Yeggs Batter Back Doors

A series of small-time burglaries, petty thefts and attempts were reported last weekend, as shopkeepers and merchants turned their attention to the Festival doings.

About $104 in cash and $22.22 in checks was taken from Herald Cleaners, 1525 Cypress, sometime Sunday night by burglars who pried open some sliding doors.

Two reels of cable were taken from a construction site behind Broadway Shopping Center. Spott Electrical Company of Hayward reported their value was $200.

Rheule Reitze of Acoustic-Reitze Company, 1535 Main, on the first day of the Festival said that someone had forced the rear window of his building, ransacked the rooms and drawers, opened the cash register which had pennies and nickels, but took nothing.

Nothing was taken at the Walnut Creek Launderette, 1624 Locust Street, either, last Friday, though the rear door was jimmied open, and the place ransacked.

Ed Larmer of Builders Hardware, 1663 Locust, said that about $50 damage was done to a rear door by burglars who tried to force their way in last Friday. They didn't succeed.

The Acalanes board has Mrs. Alice McBride, chairman, William Hall, clerk, William Freeman and Dr. Ralph Hall.

Threats, Blow In Face Suffered By Local Man

Milton Lee of 1914 Sharp Avenue, Walnut Creek, and a friend, Bill Kinsel, were driving north on Main Street last Friday evening, when a car pulled alongside, and the driver began shouting threats.

The 1954 hardtop sedan then pulled ahead, and stopped. The driver got out, leaving a woman and small child inside, and struck Lee in the face, the victim told police officers.

When the attacker drove away, Lee noted his license, which turned out to be that of a Concord man residing on Sunset Lane, records showed.

Boys, Knives Into Custody At Festival

The only disturbance at the Walnut Festival brought apprehension of two Oakland boys Sunday evening, and a search at the police station produced two knives, with 8-inch and 5-inch blades.

Officers said that Douglas Conley, 18, and David Colomy, 19, admitted that they took the knives from a cooking display in the exhibition tent.

They were booked for carrying concealed weapons and for petty theft.

The boys said that they were looking for another boy, with whom they had been in an argument earlier.

Girl Learns of Constitution by Poor Driving

Speeding and careless driving August 29 by 20-year-old Judy Rounds, 3434 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, netted her a damaged car and a rude awakening.

Last week Judge John Garaventa of the Concord Justice Court added writer's cramps and a study of the U. S. Constitution to the lessons she has already learned.

As National Constitution Week was near, the judge deigned it only proper that the faulty driver learn more about her responsibilities to her country, including those undertaken when driving.

So Judge Garaventa assigned Judy to write a 5,000 word essay on the Constitution as her penalty.

The reckless driving and subsequent accident occurred on August 29 on Monument Boulevard near Pleasant Hill. The afayette girl, later cited for speeding, admitted ramming the vehicle of Arthur Edward Hemstalk, 56, of Walnut Creek, from the rear.

Hemstalk's car rebounded and smashed into another.

Motor Office Open Monday At 2nd Avenue

The offiical opening of the new Department of Motor Vehicles office is scheduled for Monday, it was announced.

The building will have a staff to serve motorists in the central county area, and will conduct tests and grant licenses.

Located at Second Avenue and North Main, it was originally sought by Concord and Walnut Creek.

Registration and establishment of financial responsibility can be completed there, also.

It's Back to Standard Time Sunday Morn

Sunday morning nappers will have an extra hour this Sunday, as California returns to Standard time. But this may be small consolation if they take advantage of the extra hour of revelry allowed in night clubs and cocktail lounges.

The Sun advises that before retiring, you turn the minute hand of your alarm clock back one hour, Saturday night. If sack time is 10:30 p.m., move the hands back to 9:30 p.m.

This means that it'll take that extra hour before the buzzer goes off, sending you on your way.

Daylight saving in the summer got folks up earlier in the day to take advantage of the extra hour of light. Standard gets them back to normal, since it'll probably be grey no matter when you rise and shine.

The official changeover is 2 a.m., so bartenders who normally shout, "Let's go home!," will instead cordially inquire, "Another, sir?"

And if you have a train to catch, remember that all trains, intra and inter state, will be on Standard time.

3 County Men In 24 Transit Candidates

Three Contra Costa residents are on a list of 24 candidates for directorships of a proposed Contra Costa-Alameda Transit District, which will be voted upon November 6.

They are Charles P. Howard Jr., of 2385 Walnut Boulevard, and Ray E. Smith of 2785 Mayfair Avenue, Concord, who are competing with five others, from Alameda County, for two director-at-large posts.

The other local man is John E. McKirahan of 1017 Willow Drive, Lafayette, entered against a Berkeley man for the single directorship from Contra Costa and "parts" of Alameda County, which includes Berkeley.

There are four other wards, all of which will be represented by Alameda County residents.

Candidates were told by the Organization Committee that they did not have to approve of the proposed district to run for the offices, but only to desire that there should be proper representation, if the district is created.

Definite plans for new transportation facilities, to replace the Key System if necessary, will be made sometime after a successful election, organizers say.

Cycle Club to Hold Big Race

On October 7, the Rough Riders Motorcycle Club of San Leandro will sponsor a professional motorcycle climb at the Donahue Ranch in Alamo.

Among the expected entrants are four national championship title holders, and a group of four Bay Area climbers who have only recently returned from the annual hill climb at Mineral Wells, Tex., bringing home eight of the 16 cash prizes offered.

Seven-time national champion Sam Arena of San Jose will compete against such notables as Booge Isham of Oakland, national title holder in 1951 and 1952, Harold Mathews of Merced, also a former national title holder, and Stan Schmidt of San Jose, national champ in 1953.

Party Guests Help Hunt for Goodies

Christine McCormack celebrated her fourth birthday last Saturday morning at her parents' home, 141 Lombardy Lane.

Her young guests joined her and her sisters Camille, 5, and Carla, 2, in a peanut hunt, candy hunt, and petits-fours refreshments.

Among the hunters were Linda Lee, Burt Cummings, and Betsy and Cathy Mirov.

No License -- No More Driving

When California Highway Patrol officers asked Walter T. Cole, 21, 63 Orchard Road, Orinda, to produce his driver's license after pulling him over to the side recently for driving on the wrong side of the road, they received a quizzical look.

They were then informed by Cole that he didn' have a license. His old one, he said, had been suspende "several months ago."

It will be quite some time before Cole gets that license back. him $150 and put him on two years' probation for the offense.

In addition, the judge imposed a $15 fine for the wayward driving.

Cole's license had first been suspended on September 18, 1955. The charge? "Negligent operation of motor vehicle."

Oakland Joins Areas Seeking Pinball Ordinance

Newest development in the fight against pin-ball gambling comes this week from Police Chief Wyman W. Vernon of Oakland who announced that he would seek a ban against all pinball games.

This statement came less than 24 hours after a series of swift raids on 17 Oakland taverns which resulted in 16 arrests with three people still being sought.

Vernon said he will recommend to the city manager that an ordinance be presented to the city council "prohibiting pinball machines from public places in Oakland."

"THEY ARE NOTHING but gambling devices and I'm satisfied most of the operators of bars, pool rooms and cigar stores where pinball machines are located are using them as gambling devices," he said.

Vernon commented that none of the machines confiscated were of the automatic payoff type. All were single game machines with the winners being paid off over the bar. He said that his department had the taverns under surveillance for several weeks and that raiding officers were armed with arrest warrants.

He estimated that the raids cost the city more than $1000 and "The Police department has too much other work to do to continue to police pinball machines and their operators."

HIS STATEMENTS echoed the remarks of Contra Costa Sheriff Harry Brown who recently asked the County Board of Supervisors for a county-wide pinball ordinance, offering much the same explanation.

The Sun, in news articles and editorials, has pointed out for many years the gambling and payoff situation in this county and uruged the adoption of such an ordinance, which has so far been ignored.

There are 71 cities and 11 counties in California that have ordinances prohibiting pinball games.

County Sales Tax Will Start Next Monday

The new Contra Costa County 1 per cent sales tax will go into effect Monday.

The State Board of Equalization is sending forms to retailers in the county, to acquaint them with the new sales tax and to enable the retailers to make proper reports.

Contra Costa County has entered into an agreement with the State Board of Equalization, providing for the county sales tax, which is in addition to the 3 per cent state sales tax.

SOME CITIES, like Walnut Creek, have already been collecting their own 1 per cent city sales tax. In such cases this 1 per cent sales tax—instead of a full 1 per cent county sales tax—will be divided as follows: .975 of the 1 per cent will go to the city; .025 of the 1 per cent will go to the county.

In unincorporated areas of the county, the 1 per cent county sales tax will be entirely new.

To be deducted to cover administrative expenses by the State Board of Equalization will be 1.7 per cent of the collections.

HERETOFORE, residents of unincorporated areas who bought goods in a city which had its own city sales tax were not charged that city sales tax if the customer did not take the merchandise with him when he left the store; in other words, if the goods were delivered to his home he was exempt from the city sales tax.

Under the new setup, however, residents of unincorporated areas will be subject to the 1 per cent sales tax (in addition to the 3 per cent state sales tax) regardless of whether they take purchases with them from a store or have them delivered to their homes, according to the county clerk's office.

Articles Lost On School Bus?

Has your child left his sweater, lunch box, football or books on the school bus?

"If he has," Acalanes District Supervisor of Transportation Rowland Coad asks parents, "please check with the school your child attends, before you check anywhere else.

Don't check the Acalanes district transportation office until you're sure your child's school doesn't have the lost article."

Coad explains that articles lost on buses which are on schedules serving a particular school and which are identified by the driver as having been from a certain "run," are returned to that school the next day by the driver.

If the articles are not identified by the bus driver, they are held at the main transportation office of the Acalanes district, at Acalanes High School.

CCCSD Tallies Votes; Elects Fisher President

Directors of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District met Monday night to canvas returns of the recent CCCSD election and elect a new board president.

With the resignation as president of Irving Roemer, who was reelected director in the September 17 general election, the board voted into the chairmanship Director Raymond W. Fisher Jr., who was elected to the board in 1954 for a four year term.

Fisher, an engineer with Kaiser and Company, resides at 90 Meadow View Road.

AFTER CANVASSING the election returns, including three absentee ballots, the directors released the following final results.

Roemer, 525; Frank Salfingere, 567; Ernest Spiegl, 550; M. H. Stanley, 310.

Incumbents Roemer, Salfingere and Spiegl were reelected.

In other business, the directors passed a resolution to complete sewerage work in the Crest View Drive area of Orinda, on Moraga Highway. Cost of the work will run approximately $107,810.

HAVING REJECTED previous bids as too high, the board also voted to use its own forces for work on Reliez Station Road and Happy Valley Road, Lafayette.

Gerry Horstkotte, district manager, was instructed by the board to meet with county health officials to discuss the problem of septic tanks still in use within CCCSD boundaries.

According to a district official, about 20 per cent of the people in the district are currently using septic tanks where sewer lines are not available.

SURVEY AND preliminary engineering work totalling $12,927 on four projects was also authorized by the board.

Included in the project are:

1. $5000 for work at the proposed pumping station near the Orinda Crossroads.

2. $3500 for surveying at the treatment plant and oxidation ponds.

3. $2000 for plans and survey on pressure line K, which will run from the major Orinda pumping station.

Civil Defense Evacuation Steps Taken by Schools

Throughout the grammar school and high school areas in the Acalanes district, first steps are being taken for effective coordination with civil defense plans for evacuation in event of a disaster alert.

Being returned to the schools are questionnaires in which parents indicate whether, in event of an enemy air attack, they wish their children placed immediately under civil defense jurisdiction and mass-evacuated eastward as rapidly as possible, or sent home by foot.

In the latter case, the child would be with his family, which would participate as a family unit in the civil defense-directed evacuation proceedings.

IN THE QUESTIONNAIRES the parents also indicate whether or not they can use the family car or cars in evacuation.

The questionnaire and the accompanying letter are the same in the Acalanes High School District and in the grammar school areas in that district — Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Moraga and Canyon.

"It will probably be at least another month before the questionnaire answers can be tabulated; after that, they will be studied and evaluated," Superintendent W. B. Ellis of the Lafayette School District explained.

"PRIVATE CARS would be a major factor in any civil defense evacuation action, since we cannot be at all certain of using school buses. Whether we can use school buses depends on where the school buses will be — and even at best, there would not be enough buses for all the children."

Designation of whether a child should be evacuated directly from school, or should be sent home on foot, is "purely voluntary" by the parents, the letter stresses.

"An attempt is being made to bring our civil defense plans into line with the recommendations of the national, state and local civil defense authorities," the letter states.

"This information letter and questionnaire has been prepared by the combined authorities of Acalanes, Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek, Moraga and Canyon School Districts and has been written so that you can help us determine what action should be taken in the case of a 'yellow alert' (warning of approaching enemy attack).

"In case of a 'red alert' (enemy attack under way) the plans now being used in the schools will be continued, wherein the students are taught to use the best shelter available within the school grounds. No change in this is being considered.

"The civil defense authorities have urged us to 'formulate evacuation . . . plans in coordination with local civil defense plans . . .' in addition to our present program. As a part of this coordinated effort our school district has installed a Bell and Light System which permits the schools to be notified immediately by the civil defense headquarters if a yellow or red alert condition should exist.

"THE CIVIL DEFENSE authorities have said, 'The best protection against atomic or hydrogen bombs is — don't be there! This means pre-attack evacuation.' With few exceptions, the schools of our community lie within the so-called 'target area' (within a 20-mile radius of Treasure Island).

"This means that the only real defense against enemy attack is evacuation eastward. The civil defense one-way-traffic pattern which will be established in case of evacuation will make it impossible to operate our normal bus transportation system.

"Therefore, if the schools are to have an evacuation plan, transportation will have to be furnished by private cars from the immediate area surrounding each school, and children not being evacuated will have to walk home.

"IT SHOULD BE made quite clear that any plan for the evacuation of your child while in school is purely voluntary on your part, and that the moment he leaves the school premises during an alert condition the school's authority ceases and civil defense authority takes over.

"Since it is expected that no students will be kept on the school premises beyond the time necessary to evacuate the school population, the question we ask you is: Do you want your child evacuated according to the plan of the civil defense authorities or do you want him sent home on foot from school, if an alert ever is sounded?

"We hope it will never be necessary to use it, but we feel we muts have a plan . . .

"When the specific details of the plan, as they apply to your school, have been worked out, you will be informed. Thank you for your cooperation in this important matter."

Mt. Diablo Final Evacuation Plan Due Wednesday

In case of evacuation after attack or disaster in the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, students will be sent home, according to James Dent, superintendent.

A principals' meeting will be held Wednesday, said Dent, when a more comprehensive program will be worked out.

"At present each school in the District has its own emergency plan. Each plan differs a little due to the various types of construction used in our schools," he continued.

Initial plans were laid out last spring in a meeting of school officials and civil defense authorities.

"There are 22,000 children in schools of Mt. Diablo Unified in seven distinct geographic locations. A catch all plan is almost impossible, said John Wheil, director of transportation of the district.

Letters will be mailed to parents of district children in the near future to inform them of exactly what both they and their children are to do in case of atomic attack, concluded Dent.

10th Year Celebration Anticipated by Realtors

The tenth anniversary of the multiple listing service, Contra Costa Real Estate Board, will be celebrated from October 15-22, with the highlight a luncheon featuring, "Progress for the Ten-Year Period."

During the last 10 years, some $58 millions in property have been sold and more than half of that during the past three years, according to Wayne Bailey, board secretary.

IN JULY, a peak month, total sales were $2,078,385, a new record, which exceeded the sales of the Richmond board, which is much larger than the local board.

The big luncheon will be October 22, with place to be announced later.

The chairman will be Frank Curtis. The "Progress" program will be prepared by Bob Clough.

Bill Hayward will be master of ceremonies. Lloyd Holton will be the producer.

COMMITTEE members will include Ken Tibbetts, Mrs. Diane Davis, Ray McCoy and Mrs. Doris Jellett.

Bailey commented, "We hope to have Governor Knight or one of his representatives at the luncheon, since it's going to be one of the biggest events of our organization's history."

The Real Estate Board has 106 brokers and 382 salesmen.

Creek Channel Project OK'd By Trustees

Acalanes High School District trustees approved a $23,000 bid to line Walnut Creek fronting Las Lomas High School with cement bags to stop creek bank erosion, Monday.

It was decided to rent parking space for school buses opposite Orinda Elementary until bus facilities are completed at Miramonte High this December.

The next trustee meeting will be at 4:30 p.m. October 8, following an afternoon tour of District facilities.

Trustees also approved site plan utilization for improvements at Acalanes to include an additional classroom wing with four classes; extension of the maintenance shop; and extension of girls and boys locker rooms.

Preliminary plans approved for Las Lomas are library expansion, construction of a music building, addition of two classrooms and enlargement of the cafeteria.

Projects approved are slated for completion by the opening of school next year.

Liquid Assets . . . Water Flowing Like Money!

By BILL HAYWARD

EAST BAY MUD

General Manager J. W. McFarland spoke to the realtors Monday morning breakfast bringing the big news for the future of our area. The district, meaning East Bay MUD can now guarantee the availability of 350 million gallons of water per day for the future development of the 400 square mile district encompassing Richmond in the northwest, toward Martinez in the northeast, south in the direction of San Ramon and west to include Decoto, ample supply according to engineering surveys for a long, long time to come.

Even a break in the huge cross-county aqueduct by accident or enemy would still guarantee a 90 day storage in the local reservoir system. Speaking of reservoirs, East Bay MUD has plans on the drawing board to offer a large chunk of land around the San Pablo Dam for public sale for sometime in the near future.

When the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District can guarantee proper sewage disposal for that area it may be possible to provide as many as 6500 building sites in the foothills and along the shore of this lake. Mr. McFarland heads one of the most efficient water supply and distribution districts in the entire country. The quality and quantity available for emergency use, the end use, and price, all three far ahead and far better than any other district. Definitely "liquid assets."

MORTGAGE MONEY . . . money for home loans in our area is still inadequate. Most realtors report that available funds are tougher to borrow and loans are being allowed by some lenders in certain preferred areas. The general outlook seems to be that the banker is more choosey about the borrowers credit standing, his income and his ability to repay . . .

Some of the insurance company correspondents who have been lending in the area have been known to charge sellers as high as EIGHT points for providing Federal Veteran Loans. This is in many cases too tough to handle. We predict interest will go up in general in the near future with G.I. and FHA money available at 5 per cent. This we hope will knock out the extra selling costs now leveled at the seller.

RICHMOND LISTING . . . The Ford Motor Company has placed its automobile assembly plant on the market at a reduced price of $2,500,000. You may cooperate on this sale by getting the details from Joseph P. Day Company of New York City, exclusive agents for this property.

NO GARAGE SHOULD BE WITHOUT ONE . . . An Eastern developer in Connecticut recently in opening forty luxury homes in the $27,000 bracket includes a good used car in every garage as part of standard equipment.

INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPING along the water front . . . Your County Planning Commission recently approved a small boat harbor master plan, a part of the recreational plan for our fast growing county, which includes seven new installations. Projects recently approved, along with their cost estimates are listed as follows:

Brick Yard Cove, Richmond, $1,600,000; Pinole, $80,000; Rodeo, $1,083,200; Martinez, $1,233,000; McAvoy, no figure given; Pittsburg, $181,500 . . . This should certainly be a boon to the new outboard motor and water skiing enthusiasts, not to mention the thousands of fishermen enjoying the inland water ways for weekends.

CALIFORNIA STATE LOANS to veterans . . . It has been announced that California veterans now applying for loans on homes, who do not already own homes, will be given preference over those applying for refinancing on homes they already own.

Chest X-Rays To be Given

Free chest X-rays will be available in the Walnut Creek area next Friday.

The X-ray unit will be located at 1400 Broadway in the Broadway Shopping Center, and will be open to the general public from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Free chest X-rays are provided by the County Health Department as a part of their Tuberculosis Control Program.

Home Parade Extended; 100,000 Have Attended

Announcement that the Rheem Valley Parade of Homes has been extended for another week was made this week by Ernest D. Holly, executive secretary of the General Contractors Association of Contra Costa County, the sponsoring Association.

The event is now scheduled to remain open through next Sunday. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 10 to 10 on Saturday and Sunday.

Holly said the luxury home exposition had attracted more than 100,000 persons through last Sunday's closing hours and that continuing public interest in the Parade, as indicated by scores of telephone calls, had resulted in the one-week extension.

The Parade is made up of a full block of luxury homes all constructed by different firms as examples of the residences they are building in other Contra Costa locations.

All of the homes are decorated and furnished and each is fully landscaped to emphasize the Valley's outdoor living advantages. Swimming pools highlight this living theme and further underscore the Parade's suburban estate theme.

Holly also reported that the play yards for youngsters will continue in operation. Divided into two sections, the play area offers half of its facilities for the enjoyment of pre-school youngsters and the other half for children of elementary school age.

The Parade of Homes is being held at Moraga Road and Donald Drive and may be reached, via Orinda, by taking Moraga Highway to Glorietta Boulevard, then turning right from Glorietta to Rheem Boulevard and going out Rheem to Moraga Road. Turn right on Moraga ½ mile to the Parade site.

County Schools Gain Much Like Post War Years

"Contra Costa schools have made an enrollment gain reminiscent of the rapid expansion of post-war years, climbing to an all-time high of 92,132 students in grades from kindergarten through junior college," County Superintendent B. O. Wilson said today. 'A survey of enrollment showed a gain of nearly 9 per cent over the figure at the same last year. The numerical gain was 7323, up from 84,809.

"This increase is equivalent to 244 classrooms. It makes crystal clear the reason for continued double session in many of our districts," Wilson commented.

Local and state financed building programs of the school districts have reduced the number on double session from 14,239 in October 1954 to 11,704 last October and the present figure of 8483. These figures apply to primary grades and do not include kindergarten. In addition, some kindersion.

Wilson said the enrollment gain is the more remarkable because it is in contrast to lower rates of increase in the past two years. The rate of increase between October 1954 and October 1955, for instance, was 3.9 per cent.

Part of the rate decline was due to loss of enrollment in Richmond Elementary District. This trend continues, but increases elsewhere more than compensate for the loss in the area.

Mt. Diablo Unified District has grown in the past three years from 17,000 to 19,600 and now 22,179, Wilson said. Other suburban areas and the Pittsburg-Antioch region are also expanding rapidly.

Sheldon Elementary District has nearly doubled in size since last year. Its three-year span of enrollment has risen from 311 to 468 and now 800.

Wilson added that the Contra Costa Junior College District reports almost equal enrollment of full-time students at east and west campuses. The total of 2525—1244 at East and 1281 at West—is in contrast to 2400 at the same time last year. Part-time enrollment also promises to set a new high.

ENTERING FREEWAYS

Entering a freeway from a side road can be a dangerous maneuver, especially if the driver's view of oncoming traffic is partially obstructed. You should wait for the proper opening in traffic

Area Realtors To Build on Locust Street

The new offices of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board will be constructed on Locust Street just south of the Christian Science Church, at a cost of about $40,000 Wayne Bailey, board secretary said today.

Bailey said that the board was not now financially able to purchase the lot and building of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, due to a "tight money market."

"We had originally hoped to buy the sanitary building and land from Ken Richardson, who was to take our Locust lot in trade, but it's now just a little bit out of our reach," he said.

The new building, to replace the present quarters at 1607 Locust, about two blocks north, will have two stories, with a meeting room upstairs.

The Building Committee will meet tomorrow morning to discuss the hiring of an architect. Plans call for occupation of the new building early next year.

In the lot just to the south, is the nearly completed building of the Contra Costa Title Company.

Swedish Student Lauds Rotary Tour of West

Carl Ordell, a young Swedish student who recently returned from a Rotary-sponsored tour of the Western States, vividly described that tour to the Orinda Rotary membership at a meeting Wednesday noon at the Willow Inn.

Labeling the tour as "wonderful," Ordell, currently a graduate student at the University of California, traveled to Barstow, Calif., Las Vegas and Henderson, Nev., Brice, Zion and Grand Canyon National Parks, and went on to Salt Lake City, Utah, where the tour ended.

What was the student's favorite sight in the Oldest? Brice and Zion Parks, he told the Rotary.

Ordell has a brother in Sweden who is a commercial artist, and he "wished my brother could have seen the colors" in the two parks.

The young scholar, who last year was an honorary member of the Orinda Rotary for one month as a foreign student, said that the people he met treated him just fine, and that he "got a wonderful reception everywhere."

Merle Brown was program chairman at the meeting presided over by President Ramsey Underwood.

A hot debate is in the making for next week's noon meeting as General Clarence Wallace and Mel Nielsen, supervisorial candidates, have been allotted 15 minutes apiece to speak.

Cubs Visit Audubon Society Bird Display

Seven Cub Scouts of Orinda Pack 225 (Den 1) last week journeyed to the Audubon Society headquarters in Berkeley for a first-hand look at some of the Society's prize collections.

One of the features they enjoyed most was that many of the nature items are displayed in a way that allows the visitors to touch and handle them.

Mrs. Maxine Osmunson, Den Mother, and Mrs. Joan McCorkle, Assistant Den Mother, accompanied the boys on their trip.

The boys who went included Woody Osmunson, Chris Neddersen, Tony Valencia, Mike and Kim Thor, Scott Babcock, and Cliss McCorkle.

New Shop Offers Coiffure Beauty

Fashionable Orinda ladies have discovered a new establishment where they may acquire coiffure beauty in pleasant surroundings.

Since the beginning of this month, when the doors of the Country Hairdresser shop were opened at 99 Orinda Highway, owner Mrs. Thelma Patterson has been attending to the hairdressing problems of style-conscious patrons.

Mrs. Patterson, who lives at 128 Camino Sobrante, Orinda, brings with her the experience of having managed Floyd's Salon in Denver, Colorado.

A member of a branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay, Mrs. Patterson has two children, Lorraine Kay, 3, and Charles Russell, 8 months.

Asked by The Sun why she selected Orinda for her business establishment, Mrs. Patterson answered that "I want to operate a first class beauty salon in my home town, which is growing very fast."

An added feature in the Country Hairdresser shop is its "unusual gift" section.

B.C. Visitor Here

A visitor from Kelowna, British Columbia, is Mrs. H. Pearson, who is spending a month in Orinda with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox of Monte Vista Road.

County History Reviewed for Orinda Lions

Early Contra Costa history was recalled through films and narration for members of the Orinda Lions Wednesday evening at the regular Lion meeting at Casa Orinda.

Showing and explaining the slides was Louis Stein, a member of the Kensington Lions and active member of the Contra Costa County Historical Society.

Although the showing covered the entire county's history, special emphasis was placed on the early development of Orinda and vicinity.

President Jim Hull, who presided over the meeting, also reminded the assembled Lions to attend the new Moraga Lion Charter Night October 13 at the Holy Ghost Hall in Walnut Creek.

More than 120 Lions and their families and friends attended the recent Lion Barbecue, and the Lions report that a great deal of money was earned at the festivities for Lion charities.

At a recent Board of Directors meeting, $35 was appropriated for the Boy Scout extension program.

County Problems Aired for Rotary

Problems of construction, zoning and other real estate difficulties in this county were discussed yesterday at noon luncheon meeting of the Lafayette Rotary at Tunnel Inn.

Guest speaker for the day was Wayne Bailey, a representative of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

Arrangements for Bailey to address the Rotary were made by program chairman Jack Marchant President Ralph Ligon presided.

Two new members were inducted into the Rotary at a September 20 meeting. Dr. Jack Hanson and Leo Schell are the new Rotarians.

Dr. Hanson, sponsored by Milt Adair, is a practicing dentist. Schell, a land surveyor, was sponsored by Kermit Blodgett.

Starting next Monday afternoon with one of the Glorietta kindergartens the meetings will continue throughout the month with every classroom represented.

In the past one of the most useful features of the meetings has been the teachers' descriptions of their aims and methods in the classroom.

Monday, 3:30 p.m.—Mrs. Walkley's a.m. Kindergarten (Glorietta); 8 p.m.—Mrs. Stone's 1st Grade (Sleepy Hollow).

Orinda Mothers' Bridge Sessions To Start Soon

Bridge sessions of the Orinda Mothers Club for this year will start next week, according to Mrs. R. Neddersen, chairman.

As in the past, four different groups are being planned, on the first and third Thursdays and Fridays of each month.

The first session will meet next Thursday morning from 9:30 to noon at the home of Mrs. Edward F. Winthers. The Thursday afternoon group will be at the home of Mrs. L. Conway Smith from 12:15 to 3 p.m.

The two Friday meetings, scheduled for the same hours, will be at Mrs. Paul Catholica's home in the morning, and at Mrs. E. B. Reid's home in the afternoon.

There is a 50 cent fee for each session.

In announcing this year's bridge sessions, Mrs. Neddersen expressed the hope that many new members will wish to participate. She stressed the fact that expertness is not necessary.

Interested mothers are asked to call her at CL 4-5023.

'Hot' Speedway Classic Shown At Lion Meeting

A blazing race under a blazing sun flashed across the screen during the noon meeting of the Lafayette Lions Tuesday at El Nido.

The film, "The Hottest 500," was a showing of the ill-fated 1953 Indianapolis Speedway 500 mile classic race. Lion hot-rod enthusiasts were reminded of the terrific heat during that race that agonized the drivers and caused several calamitous mishaps on the speedway.

Ted Stein presented and showed the film.

The first Lion meeting of October has been changed to the 13th, when members will travel to the Holy Ghost Hall in Walnut Creek to attend the Charter Night of the newly-founded Moraga Lions.

On October 23, British Consulate General of San Francisco Sir Robert Haddow will speak on international affairs at the Lion meeting.

Hansens Will Attend Architects' Meeting

Architect Harold M. Hansen of Orinda will attend the 11th annual convention of the California Council of Architects at Yosemite National Park October 10-14.

Orchard Nursery to Open Doors for Flower Festival

For the eighth consecutive year, Orchard Nursery, midway between Orinda and Lafayette, will stage its annual Open House celebration, an outstanding local flower festival in these parts. The dates are October 6 and 7.

The traditional Chrysanthemum Show, under the direction of Laura Stafford, is expected to draw mum fanciers from far and near. Many new varieties will make their debut.

Miss Stafford achieves strikingly beautiful effect by massing container grown plants.

Competing for honors with the Mums will be African Violets.

This annual African Violet Show, under the direction of Constance Hansen and Lowena Leslie will feature over 250 varieties — the largest selection in the West.

African Violets are Orchard Nursery's specialty. Included will be blue-ribbon winners from the Oakland Garden Show and the California State Fair.

To coincide with fall bulb planting season, Dutch bulbs will be much in prominence. There will be a lecture and movies on bulb planting and representatives of Holland bulbs will be garbed in authentic Dutch costumes to lend color to the festivities.

Another interesting highlight of the program will be a pottery exhibit by Al and Gladys Moffat of San Francisco.

They will display original pottery creations — and explain how they achieve new and different glazes. All pottery presentations are in the field of vases and planters.

As always, noted landscape architect Ernest Wertheim will be present to answer questions on garden problems. There will be gifts for the ladies and, according to co-owners Jack Schneider and Stewart Wade, fun for all.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

They swirched partners for the grand entrance

A LUMINOUS LAMP OF A MOON looked down on the grounds of the Orinda Country Club Saturday nite and liked what it saw! A score of party-mood people enjoying the warmest night of the year at the outdoor third annual Steak Barbecue and Dance given by Lombardy Branch of Children's Hospital.

Down the torchiered stairway, the club grounds like a midsummer eve's setting . . . Long tables, candlelit, across the lawn, the scent of pines and redwoods, here and there a touch of Tweed and Tabu, lady guests in bare shouldered summer dresses, no need for wraps the whole night long.

LOOKING UP TABLE SEATINGS . . . Marilyn Hampton in a beige scoop neck sweater, red geranium embroidered, a beige linen embroidered skirt to match . . . Fran Sutliffe, directing guests to their tables the good news that she and Miles and their sons are remaining here, their move mid-west definitely cancelled out! The Wayne Bentleys and Bruce Campbells coming in together.

Dick Bottjer arriving w/a pretty blonde, she being Mary Dorland whose husband Fil, in turn, had taken Jean Bottjer's arm for an entrance, the foursome gaily arriving from a very early gathering at the Bill Roses . . . Also coming from here were Lillian and Joe Brothers, the Don Woodcocks, Bob and Jane Lester, Kathy and Bill West who are new on BelAir Dr. and the Bill Thompsons.

EYECATCHING . . . Caroline Read, in a white princess-styled paneled lace, two pink roses w/green streamer ribbons perched atop her hepburn-hairdo, kelly satin pumps at her toes . . . She chatted w/the Gene Snovers, all joining the Jack Riesers, Cal Hagstroms and Jim and Haroldine Marvin at a long table hosted by the Reads.

Audrey and Jack Gregory, she in a mink-collared white cardigan . . . The Bill Witters back over from Belvedere leaving their blueprints behind them . . . The Ernest Starkmans mentioning their INSIDE USA tour this summer, details later!

The Bud [illegible]ers who chairmaned the party, complimented for picking such a moon for the party . . . Sev and Frank Schnugg, she fairly sparkling in bandbox pink linen, their EIGHTH little 'schnuggarbun' due in another month!

TABLE-HOPPING . . . Jean and Joe Downs (black tiered lace for her) making the rounds w/their guests, Walt and Jeon Coursen who have a new home on Hall Dr, Nels and Betty Eklund recently ensconced on La Senda, the John Barons, the Joe Monroes and Cmdr. Frank and Carolyn Adams (he just home from the Orient)!

A true artist by night and day

Early diners were the Bill Gilmores and Frank Adams who had their after-dinner coffee w/the Cale Huntleys, Arline and Bud Coburn . . . Steaks were terrific, so were the trimmings and the long line moved fast at the far end of the pool, Jim Miraglia's catering commended by the Kriete Baldwins, the Bill Jaekels, Bill Hanfords . . . The Ed Turks loading up w/the Ken Renwicks.

An orchestra leader who is a GUMP'S designer by day ,a maestro by moonlight, fulfilled even rare requests like "Bahia," the beat on the bongo drums attracting everyone onto the waxed concrete slab under the stars . . . PAUL FARIA AND HIS ORCHESTRA being applauded for medleys of very danceable tunes by Fred and Pa Barton, the Charles Blues, Lloyd Hecathorns, Rollin Moores, George Merriams.

Clanping for more Cole Porter, Bill and Edith Scatena, Bob Neylan, Roy Cowdens . . . Dorothy and Jack Stahle who are back from Seattle and building their new home here . . . Newcomers Dick and Renetta Rawlings of Snowberry Lane . . . the Ed Bergens, Joe Langs, Louis Bairds.

The fun-loving Dorlands and Dick Bottjer into the pool for a midnite dunking!

The flowered float near wilting stage . . . Not so the guests, most of whom stayed LATE and on finally departing for home of a neighbor's for coffee, looked forward to such an evening again next year, same time, same place, same branch!

PICTURE OF THE WEEK . . . Nancy Davison in a jaunty hat cruising around in her red convertible, a silver spray can held daintily in her hands as she drives . . . In the back seat, her Irish setter "Shanty" who sits subdued and still under the tranquilizing effect of the spraycan that he fears . . . Should Shanty become rambunctious, Nancy has only to pull up to the curb, blast him w/a dose of the flea powder, and the dog is doomed to docile behavior. That's dog-gone discipline for you!

A case of too many bears

ONE ORINDA MOTHER was talking as mothers do to her eight-year-old daughter, hoping to help her child make a wiser choice on some matter when the young lady upped and retorted, "Now Mother, don't try any of your Geology on me!" which of course made the mother feel as if she had "rocks in her head" for even trying!

The Yates Bleuels, currently on an Islands vacation, have recently poined the battalion of Bay Area Bear Boat owners and sail w/one of the yacht clubs, Charles Gibbs and son Jimmie for the crew . . . Since bear boats are distinguished individually by "bear" names such as Grizzly, Cinnamon, Koala, and even Rootbear (?), Yates found that w/some sity-five boats registered, he was short on names, but out of bare necessity, he found one, and his boat now goes by the name "Godiva" . . . get it?

NATURE STUDY . . . When Young Mark Behr, aged three, was missing from the home front one morning recently, his Mother calmly did her usual hunting and calling around. When two hours had passed and still no turnup of tot, she enlisted a few neighbors to help. As the afternoon got well under way, she got that frantic feeling approaching hysteria and called the police who were just in the process of organizing a search party when Nature Boy appeared on the scene ,clutching flora and fauna from a visit down the dry creek and a few chicken feathers from the neighbor's yard where he had spent hours in utter fascination of the first feathered flock he'd ever seen!

THE ENVY OF BASEBALL FANS at home will be Pat Walker and Billie Greenlaw, two Sleepy Hollow matrons who fly off to NY next week where they'll view the World Series in style from choice grandstand seats.

When Tom Blossom found a big turtle lazing in the sun on Orchard Road he gave it to Judy Howes after no luck via Lost & Found . . . but Judy's own turtle George is not up to sharing his choice garden insects and his limp lettuce and so the union is not a happy one . . . If someone is missing their hard-shelled friend, please call Judy at CL 4-4292.

"A NIGHT IN OLD MEXICO" w/authentic Aztec decor, is the fund-raising event of the Orinda Orioles set for tomorrow night at the "Quail Valley" home of the John Dorrs on Oakwood Rd. . . . A few tickets left for the festive party which will feature authentic Mexican dinner, music for dancing and entertainment and a call to Vera Berry at CL 4-3740 will hold yours ($5 per couple) at the door.

It has finally come to me why husbands have offices to go to every day. Here I am, sitting in my husband's office, the door is shut, no one to interrupt my train (?) of thought, so why doesn't the (?) thought come easier? No secretary.

Reports on the proceeds netted from the Fireman's Ball, held at the Moraga School Saturday, September 22, was approximately $150. Comments from various attendants lead me to believe that the crowd was congenial, the music good and a lot of fun was had by the majority.

Winners of the prizes were: Camera, Mr. Perkins of the Union Oil Station in Rheem Center; E. Madsen got the portable barbecue, and the floor lamp was awarded to a student from St. Mary's College.

FINE SNACK

The other day I wended my way to the Bing Crosby Char-Broiler in Orinda—right next door to the Pet Shop—to say hello to the cook, Pearl Goss, who formerly worked at the Char-Broiler at Clark's Market.

While there, I sampled the home made apple pie, with coffee, of course, and found it very much to my liking.

Those who have partaken of hamburgers, tell me they are just as good. If you don't believe me, try them yourself.

Sunday morning 15 officers, directors and families of the Moraga Junior Horseman's Association were guests of the California State Horseman's Association at a 10 a.m. breakfast held on the lower deck of the Show Boat at Jack London Square, Oakland.

Approximately 200 people attended the affair, where Carl Berner, president of the Fifth Regional Association, presented the certificate of membership to Director Bill Lance, and welcomed the Morga Association into the region. Welcoming them also was Sydney Grove, president of the California State Association.

Election of officers at the following meeting, presented the Fifth Region, of which our Juniors are a group, with Ed Martin, president, and Ted Albra, vice president,

Next meeting of the Mothers Club will be at the Moraga School on the evening of the first Wednesday of the month, October 3, at 8 p.m. Following a short business meeting will be guest speaker Miss Merrick, guidance counselor for County Board of Education. Also, the County Nurse will attend the meeting.

THE MILKY WAY

Announcement of the proposed milk program from President Mrs. Betty Parker informs us that they hope to have the details worked out and the program in operation by the first of October. Full cooperation of parents will be necessary in order to make this enterprise a success.

Belated birthday wishes are extended to Bill Lance, who tells me he is now going to "start living."

Miss Janice Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carey of Rheem Boulevard, celebrated her fourth birthday last Tuesday. Ten little friends and their mothers joined in the fun and games, to help her remember the day. Happy Birthday, Janice!

A strong plea goes forth for Brownie leaders. Complications have arisen over a meeting place and the fact that the troop is now growing beyond one group. Also, lack of steady transportation enters into the picture.

If anyone is interesed in giving these little girls a chance to carry on a well-started Brownie troop, Call Mrs. Dee Davis, DR 6-8352.

A reminder of Moraga Community Club meeting and election of officers tonight at the Moraga School, 8:30 p.m. Hope to see a good turnout.

COMMUNITY LOSS

It was with regret that many of us read of the death of Mr. James P. Montgomery, a long time resident of Canyon. Mr. Montgomery, who up to within a few months of his death, at the advanced age of 94 years, was a familiar figure walking down to the postoffice and store in Canyon.

Admitted to the bar in Oakland, he was a practicing attorney for nearly 60 years and continued his interest in law to the last.

A great favorite of the children in the community, he welcomed them and talked to them as equals. His latter years were devoted to thoughts of the betterment of the world for the sake of theh children of the world.

Mr. Montgomery, last of eight children, leaves his widow, Rita Montgomery, and four children, Mrs. Maria D. Wendt, Palo Alto; Mrs. Virginia Johnson, El Sobrante; Zack Montgomery, Orinda, and Mrs. Elinor Graston, San Francisco.

High Mass was said at the Santa Maria Catholic Church in Orinda and burial was at St. Mary's Cemetery in Oakland.

If one can judge by great numbers of people and cars, then the Rheem Parade of Homes could be classified as a great success. Congestion of traffic called for police direction on weekends.

It is estimated well over 100,000 people paraded through and thoroughly inspected the group of fully landscaped and furnished homes open for display. Those of us who joined the ranks found it well worth our while.

Jaycees Will Hear Candidates

The two candidates for Second District supervisor, Mel Nielsen and Clarence Wallace, will speak to the Lafayette Junior Chamber of Commerce at El Nido Rancho Monday October 8, at 8 p.m.

"This program is an endeavor on the part of the Jaycees to keep better informed on current local problems. The major effort of all Jaycees being civic improvement, a 'Candidates Night' such as this better enables the individual member to cast his ballot in the November elections," President Hans R. Beetz said yesterday.

Retiring Chairman of the Board of Supervisors H. L. Cummings will speak on the two-county transit district.

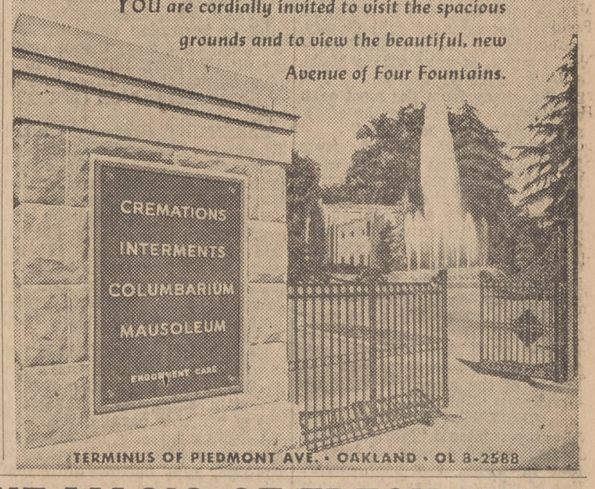

A high spot of last Monday's Jaycee meeting was the award of a Certificate of Merit and an honorary membership in the Lafayette Jaycees to a Walnut Creek boy.

Charles Cleveland, 14, a student at Las Lomas High School in Walnut Creek, stopped by the Walnut Festival grounds recently and volunteered to assist in setting up the Jaycee booth.

"He proved such an energetic and capable youngster that he was encouraged to assist when the booth opened—this he did and proved to be such a fine worker that the Lafayette Jaycees recognized his efforts by making him an honorary member and awarding him a Certificate of Merit at their dinner meeting Monday," Beetz said.

Anemone, Ranunculus Are Hardy Yet Lovely Flowers

by The Gardener

A flower enjoyed through the centuries as one of the loveliest harbingers of spring is the anemone. It is, in fact, the lily-of-the-field mentioned in the Bible as being more beautifully arrayed than Solomon in all his glory—a statement attesting to its beauty as well as age.

In all but the warm areas of the state, the anemone and its handsome relative, the ranunculus, should be planted within the next few weeks it their beauty is to awaken your garden this coming spring.

Both the anemone and ranunculus are hardy bulb flowers. In mild winter areas, plant them in light, loamy soil. Before planting, however, soak anemone bulbs in water for one hour, and ranunculus for two or three hours.

There are many species of the anemone or windflower, as it is also called. The anemone coronaria is very familiar, with poppy-like flowers in combinations of red, blue and white in many varieties.

The coronaria should have sun, while the Italian anemone, apennina, with daisy-shaped flowers of sky blue prefers the shade.

Another anemone type for early spring is the pasque flower (A. Pulsatilla). For early summer, the snowdrop anemone (A. Sylvestris) offers its white cupped flowers in shady nooks.

Though it resembles the meadow buttercup, the ranunculus is really related to a large family that includes the anemone, delphinium and clematis. The name ranunculus is of Latin derivation and means "Little frog," referring, of course, to the many species found in the damp meadows where frogs are also found.

The ranunculus asiaticus is commonly called Persian or Turban Ranunculus. Planted now, it will give beautiful spring blooms of cream, white, red, yellow, orange, pink and rose in double or ruffled forms.

Care for the ranunculus just as you do for annuals, advises the California Association of Nurserymen.

Plant in sun (or half-shade in warm climates) and cover young plants with wire netting, as birds will injure the new foliage.

This flower can be planted in a mixed border or in containers. It is also a fine flower for cutting.

Make it a special point to stop by your nurseryman's soon and obtain some bulbs of the ranunculus an anemone for immediate planting. Their bright colors will give a wonderful lift to your garden in spring.

Look Ahead to Winter Blooms

Part of the reward of a flower garden is the pleasure of picking an armful of brightly colored blooms for indoor bouquets.

Gardeners may enjoy this practice even through the winter, if winter-blooming flowers are planted in their gardens now. Stock and the Snapdragon are prime examples of winter blooming flowers which make excellent bouquets.

In fact, the Stock (Mathiola) is really a better cut flower than garden plant, although the base-branching types in separate colors can be quite effective in a garden bed.

Two widely planted species of Stock are the incana and bicornis. Mathiola incana features gray-green foliage topped by spicily fragrant flowers of white, rose, pink, purple, carmine and red.

Early Fall is Good Time for New Lawns

An excellent time to plant new lawns is early Fall, before the rains come. Get your nurseryman's advice on the correct way to prepare the seedbed and sow the grass seed.

If you have decided against grass, there are numerous substitutes that are attractive such as the English Ivy, Wild Strawberry and Dichondra.

Berries for Christmas

For indoor decorations at Christmas time the berries of the Pyracantha are ideal. By selecting now some young shrubs of the many varieties available in this berry family, you should have several berry-laden branches to use in your home in December.

Philodendron: Indoor-Outdoor Plant

There's a place in every California gardener's home or garden for the philodendron, for this vine grows very well in most houses and in certain outdoor situations.

There are a great many philondendron types and with few exceptions, all grow in a trailing or climbing manner. The leaves of the philodendron are leathery and lobed in many shades of green (sometimes mottled or variegated in various shapes). Flowers appear only on mature plants; they resemble callas and are usually in inconspicuous greenish white.

Leaf and stalk size on an indoor plant will be directly influenced by the size of the container you use The more root space the plant has, the larger the leaves and stalks. Philodendrons thrive in even temperatures and are best at 60 degrees. Full northern light or indirect sunlight is all the light this plant needs.

Variegated types require more light than plain one.

After your plant is established, feed it every four weeks with a liquid or instantly soluble dry fertilizer recommended for house plants.

Planting Now Will Bring Colorful Garden in Spring

Planning ahead is difficult. If you let your fall planting go you won't enjoy spring flowers next year!

It's a little difficult to think now about the flowers you'd like to have in your spring garden, but the California Association of Nurserymen has several recommendations to help in your selection.

A profuse and sweet-smelling bloom, the Sweet Pea (Lathyrus odoratus) can be set in now. Cuthbertson Sweet Peas are the type nurserymen will have available. These give vigorous growth (even in hot weather), extra long stems and heavy flowering during a long blooming season.

Snapdragons (Antirrhinum majus) are correctly classified as perennials but are usually treated as a spring-blooming annual. These are available in soft to deep shades of pink, salmon, yellow, copper and crimson in short, medium and tall heights.

An invaluable edging and filler plant for a spring garden, the Viola and the Pansy, members of the same genus, should be planted now in full sun. The planting soil should be deeply enriched and regular feedings given throughout the growing season.

The Pansy and Viola bloom in light lavender-blue, deep violet, apricot, ruby, mahogany-red and purple as well as in many more beautiful hues.

Among perennials, the Poppy (Papaver) is a brilliant member, particularly the Papaver orientale or Oriental Poppy with its orange-scarlet to salmon-pink blooms.

A daintier relative of the Oriental Poppy is the Iceland Poppy (P. nudicaule) for its plant is slender and the blossoms shallow-cupped in shades of yellow, white, orange and often a warm orange, apricot or salmon.

The Poppy will do well in all zones. In cold winter locales, plant in spring but in mild areas set them in now.

Fairy Primrose – A Garden Treat

Fairy Primrose is the everyday name given to the Primula malacoides, for it best describes this annual's dainty size and soft pastel colored flowers. Planted now, seedlings of the Fairy Primrose will bring welcome colors into your fall and winter garden.

There are many attractive ways to plant Fairy Primroses.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggest cultivating a carpet effect of many plants, in blending colors perhaps, under high-branching trees.

Fairy Primroses are attractive mixers in a bulb bed and they make handsome container subjects—inpots, window boxes or planters. If the soil in your garden bed does not drain well, build a raised bed and set Fairy Primroses into it.

In evergreen Fern beds, this annual adds a lovely contrast of flower form and color to the all-foliage setting.

Fall Flower Fashion

Ranunculus and Anemone bulbs are wonderful Fall flowers that will brighten any garden scene. They should be planted now so they can open the Spring bloom next year. These two hardy growers bring popular flower colors into your garden.

Here Are More Garden Hints

Here are a few more suggestions in your gardeners' Checklist:

1. Good bedding plants for early fall planting: Pansies, violas, baby primroses, stocks, snapdragons and calendulas.
2. A regular spray program will insure a more pest-free garden. This is a good time for a fall cleanup spray.
3. Plant now in the vegetable garden: Onion sets, garden peas, cabbage, cauliflower, brussel sprouts, carrots, beets and turnips.
4. All types of container-grown ornamental shrubbery can be transplanted now.
5. Divide and transplant crowded perennial plants.

Flower Was Once A Medicine, Too

Long a favorite for brightening winter gardens, the Calendula or Pot Marigold was grown in old English gardens in the time of Shakespeare as an herb and as a remedy for sore teeth as well as a flower.

In fact, Shakespeare himself referred to the Pot Marigold, calling it the "Winking Marybud" in his play "Cymbeline."

Modern gardeners, too, enjoy seeing the bright orange and yellows of the Pot Marigold plus the recently improved strains, blooming merrily in winter and spring gardens. This cool weather annual is one of the hardiest and easiest plants to grow; it will do best in rich soil with plenty of water and full sum, but will grow in poorer soil, too.

Spring Garden Planting Plans To be Revealed

Orinda Garden Club members will look ahead to the spring season when they hear Anne Rarig talk on planting a spring garden at their October meeting next Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Orinda Country Club.

Miss Rarig will be presented to the club by Mrs. Thornton Grimes, vice president and proram chairman.

Other officers are Mrs. Arthur Pedersen, president; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. Alpheus Clement, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph Lang, treasurer; and Mrs. Joseph Rupley, historian.

This Shrub's Worth Care

A shrub worthy of every California gardener's friendship is the Cotoneaster.

This low-to-tall growing evergreen or deciduous shrub has many attractively berried and handsomely foliaged varieties and species in its family.

Unfortunately, the Cotoneaster has not always been displayed to its best advantage—often being grown in close, cramped quarters which prevent its natural graceful, curving habit of growth.

The Cotoneaster, however, offers many landscaping possibilities, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Cape Bulbs: Lively Trio

The freesia, Ixia and sparaxis, known as Cape bulbs, are probably three of the most riotously colored flowers that ever graced a spring garden.

As border subjects or in cut bouquets, their blossoms offer solid colors of lavender, mauve, orange or combinations of orange and amber with a brown center, or orange with black and gold markings.

Because this threesome has somewhat tender flowers, they should be planted in early fall to provide a good growth before cold weather sets in.

Chrysanthemum Will Add Color To Your Garden

What better way to add color to your fall garden than with chrysanthemums?

Mums are available at your nursery in one-gallon containers. It is easier to give them the care which will produce beautiful blooms in late October and early November.

Often the many varieties of the cushion, chrysanthemum, are chosen for garden or container culture; however, there are many varieties in other classifications which also make excellent subjects.

One of the more prominent cushion mums, the Rose Madder, is often used because it bears an intermediate sized flower of rose-pink in mid-November which makes it excellent for the late-fall-football classics.

Another mid-November producer, the Beautiful Lady, is bright pink in color.

Other mums from which you may select for your fall garden are Red Persian rose, a raspberry red bloom appearing in late October, and the Svea, which blooms in golden bronze in early November.

Both the Yellow Beauty, which has a golden yellow flower, and Mrs. Needles, which blooms in bright pink, blooms in early November.

Place potted chrysanthemums where they will get sun two-thirds of the day, Water frequently enough to keep the soil with a moist pliable consistency but do not allow water to dampen foliage.

Fertilize with a preparation containing plenty of nitrogen after consulting with your nurseryman to determine how much fertilizing your chrysanthemum requires.

To keep your mum plants erect in their containers you will need to stake them.

Another very lovely way to train container chrysanthemums is to cascade them. This requires time and patience but the results are lovely indeed.

It you want to cascade your container-grown mums, make sure you choose small, multi-flowered varieties with willowy, slender stems.

To achieve maximum blooms, perhaps for shows and exhibition, you must disbud by pinching off the crown bud, which is encircled by leaves. Next, after the terminal bud has appeared surrounded by a circle of smaller buds, pinch off all smaller buds but not the terminal. Often it's best to leave two buds for flowering, so that if on is misshapen or injured the other will flower.

After you've had some experience growing mums in containers you may want to try growing several plants in one container — multiple mums, they're called, and they range from two to seven plants per pot.

Keep Garden Alive Till Spring Comes

Spring-flowering bulbs are probably among the most popular of all garden flowers, but while awaiting their bloom the garden bed is apt to be uninteresting.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that gardeners planting such bulbs as Daffodils, Hyacinths, Lilies and Tulips cover over the bulb beds with early-blooming annuals — and thus keep the garden attractive at all times.

ARRESTS FOR SPEEDING

The California Highway Patrol made 83,530 arrests for speeding in the first four months of 1956, reports the National Automobile Club.

Want to Preserve Bulbs? Annuals Are The Answer

Bulb planting time has arrived and with it comes the problem of how to make a garden bed full of spring blooming bulbs look attractive until spring arrives.

The answer, says the California Association of Nurserymen, is to plant annuals as covers for bulbs. There are many varieties to select from.

The always-dependable annual, Alyssum or Sweet Alyssum, will cover your bulb beds very quickly after planting and it reseeds itself freely. Alyssum's tiny flowers of white, violet and purple are honey-scented.

The Globe Candytuft (Iberis umbellata) makes a charming bulb cover with its pink, rose, salmon, lilac or white flowers clustered in parasols on bushy plants. There are dwarf hybrids in the same colors.

The Baby Snapdragon or Toadflax (Linaria maroccana) is an unusual bulb cover. It has lavender, pink, red and yellow flowers resembling snapdragons. Two name strains are Fairy Bouquet, with larger flowers of pastel shades, and Northern Lights, profusely covered with flowers of red, orange, yellow, carmine, as well as bicolors and pastels.

The Virginian Stock, also a miniature flower, will cover your bulb bed most attractively with its flowers of white, pink, crimson and lavender.

Forget-Me-Not's exquisit blue should be included in every shady bulb bed. The Forget-Me-Not (Myosotis sylvatica) blooms profusely throughout winter into spring and self-sows readily. It is available in clear shades of blue in dwarf and medium heights.

Minimum Care Is Sufficient For Pyracantha

Bright beauty produced with a minimum of care — such is the pyracantha.

This handsome berried evergreen requires no special care and in fact will flourish even if somewhat neglected.

The simple cultural requirements of the pyracantha or firethorn include a place in full sun and pinch pruning to direct growth. Berries are produced on second year wood.

Branches that have berries should be cut back only to the laterals.

There are more than 15 pyracantha varieties suitable for espaliers against wall or trellises, for covers over flat or hilly ground and for hedges. They bear variously colored berries.

Pyracantha Rosedale is a lovely variety revealing its beauty in the spring with arching sprays of ivory white, lacy flowers.

The hardiest species of the pyracantha is the coccinea, which includes the Government Red and Ialandii varieties, with red and orange berries, respectively. The Crenato-serrata species, including red-berried graberi and Santa Cruz varieties, grow in a spreading manner, seldom more than 6 feet high.

Daffodils Give Lavish Rewards

Few investments in spring bulb flowers hold as much reward for the California gardener as does the daffodil. This hardy grower blooms the first year after planting, and increases in quantity and quality year after year without continual replanting each fall.

More properly known as Narcissus, the daffodil is one of the oldest cultivated flowers. Native to the eastern hemisphere, it has spread to the corners of the earth.

The daffodil can be planted in many species and varieties which provide a continual daffodil bloom from early to late spring — a spread of two months or more.

Plant representatives of each daffodil species throughout your garden and you will enjoy a constant parade of yellow daffodil beauty for weeks.

Garden Color Tip

Many perennial and annual flowers will give your garden a colorful touch right through the Winter. Your local nurseryman stocks young plants of Marguerites, Clarkia and Larkspur, among others, for Winter color in your garden.

Cat Club Has Plans

The Mt. Diablo Cat Club will hold its first annual championship show November 10 and 11, in the California National Guard Armory, a few blocks from the main business section of Walnut Creek.

County Park Near Cowell Possible; Meeting Planned

Location of a county park near Cowell will be talked over by the Contra Costa Park and Recreation Council Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Las Lomas High School.

The Council's representative, R. Bruce Chamberlin, said that the Cowell site has increased in interest due to access from the new Kirker Pass Extension Freeway.

The Cowell site, third on the recommended priorit list of the commission, has 600 acres, situated in hill and partly wooded land east and south of the old Cowell cement plant in Clayton Valley.

It is immediately adjacent to the new freeway. It has natural features that would favor, among other things, a golf course and a natural amphitheater.

Another argument cited for the Cowell site is its central location for the cities of Antioch, Pittsburg, Concord, Pacheco, Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek.

The site was at one time part of the holdings of the Cowell Cement Company and is now in the hands of the S. R. Cowell Foundation. Chamberlain said that private interests are also interested in acquiring the land for other purposes.

Proper Coloring Can Add Autumn Touch to Garden

New Autumn interest can be introduced into your garden and yard by planting shrubs that offer fall color interest. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that these shrubs be planted to herald the change of season and to take over the color show from the summer-blooming varieties.

A large and favorite family of shrubs, the Barberry (Berberis) includes several members noted for their fall colors. The Wintergreen Barberry (B. Julianae) which is evergreen or semi-deciduous, is among the hardiest of this family.

Its dense, upright growth takes on a reddish hue in the fall. From bright green, the leaves of the Japanese barberry (B. Thunbergii) turns to yellow, orange and red, and after they fall, bead-like scarlet berries appear in a very showy manner close to the branches.

The Western Redbud (Cercis occidentalis) is a native Western tree-shrub that grows from eight to twenty feet. It performs beautifully all year round and when fall comes the entire plant turns light yellow or red.

Another Western native, the Toyon, or the California Holly (Heteromeles arbutifolia) grows as a bushy shrub six to ten feet tall or a multiple-trunked tree 15 to 25 feet. In the fall bright red berries highlight its glossy, dark green leaves.

Survivors include Mrs. Hopson's husband, Ernest M. Hopson; a stepson, Morris L. Hopson of San Jose, and seven grandchildren, all of San Jose.

Mrs. Hopson was born in New Zealand. She lived in San Francisco and Oakland until 11 years ago, when she moved to Lafayette. After living in Lafayette for 10 years she moved to Walnut Creek a year ago.

Doyle Again Appears on TV

Doyle was interviewed for a half-hour about the activities of his Assembly Committee on Education. The show originated in Sacramento.

It Was Fun at the Walnut Festival...

NO! THIS ISN'T San Francisco! — It's Walnut Creek's Broadway, where Cubs of Pack 206 rode an old cable car, converted to an erst-while "auto." Four wheeled vehicles were in great variety in the Sunday parade.

CRANKING UP is Mike Roberts of Lafayette, driver of an old-fashioned Reo. The young lady in white is his daughter, Carol Lee, and seated in back are Russ Glenn of Danville and Mona Evans of Walnut Creek. Sponsor was the Mt. Diablo Business and Professional Women's Club.

BOLDLY VENTURING into the unknown are these intrepid members of Den 8, Cub Scout Pack 43, whose route was along Main Street ,during the parade Sunday. In the group are Bob Hemstack, Bruce Clark, Will Winslow, Chip Cunningham, Greg Merton and Danny Farewell.

Francis will have an office in a recently completed warehouse in Emeryville.

Red Cross Helps Folks At Festival

The American Red Cross treated 27 cases of injury from accidents, heat exhaustion and other ailments during the Walnut Festival, according to Festival President Rowland Barrett.

Barrett said that a certificate of appreciation has been presented to the Mt. Diablo Chapter which has offices near the Recreation Center, and close to the Festival grounds.

A first aid station was also established in the Broadway Center at the start of the Sunday street parade. At both places, help was given for many persons requiring bandaids, "a drink of water" and other necessities.

Mrs. James C. McGeehon Sr. acted as hostess at the headquarters, aided by Mesdames W. G. Heege, R. R. Dreggors, Leonard Seclef, Martha Ninnas, Julius Loeb, Violet Busch, James T. M. Chang and Arthur Hammonds, Gray Ladies.

On duty also were Staff Aides Peggy Thompkins and Marguerite Moore, and Junior Red Cross members Roxanne and Sharon Dickinson, Sue Atwood and Pat Kennett.

First Aiders were William Dietrick, Bea Catterlin, Vera Ashworth, Edward Cereda, Frances Gray, Betty Irving, Alice Hill, Barbara Durslinger, Leslie Fox, Margaret Hopkins, Rebecca Caine.

Registered nurses on duty were Mesdames G. H. Cockerton Sr., T. E. Jeffries, Lois Strong, Claire Hamilton, D. Jacobus, Claude Smith, W. H. Eustis and J. D. Nicolet.

WALNUT CREEK Junior Women's Club refreshment booth at the Festival was a big hit. Here, a cup of the cold stuff is passed from Mea Messer, left, to Juanita Robinson. The demand was great, especially as temperatures rose later in the weekend.

Pay as You Go OK for College

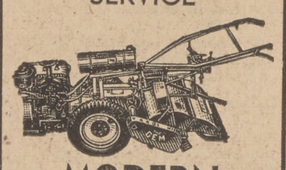

The Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association has come out in favor of the "pay-as-you-go" building program for the Contra Costa Junior College but urged trustees to appoint a committee of civic leaders to aid in preparing a master financial plan.

The directors sent trustees a report which revealed that a proposed 20-year college bond issue would cost the taxpayers $450,000 in the first four years.

Don - Ram Clash is League Opener Tonight

Acalanes Field Will Be Scene OF Rugged Game

The Acalanes Dons and the Pleasant Hill Rams open league play tonight when the two teams clash under the lights of Acalanes Memorial Field.

Since the Dons' 19-14 defeat last Friday night by Oakland High, Acalanes Coaches Jean Ridley and Bob Steven have spent hours studying motion pictures taken at that game.

They have discovered many mental as well as execution errors. Shifts in the lineup are promised as a result, and several changes in offensive and defensive play as well.

In fact, so much was being changed that a starting lineup wasn't available early in the week.

THE RAMS, defeated 12-0 by St. Mary's High of Berkeley last Friday, have been practicing hard all Week. Coach Hal Briggs has been putting in overtime work in order to get his charges ready for the Dons tonight, and he reports that he expects them to bounce back.

Spirited workouts have been the order of the day, and it could turn into the best yet between the Rams and the Dons.

Coach Briggs announced his starters as follows:

INDICATIONS POINT to a rugged, wide open contest as each eleven tries to get off on the right foot with a win in the league opener.

Chances are the Dons will start with their regular backfield of Dave Bojarsky and Harold Ecklund at the halves, Stewart Busby at full and Rich Markstein at the quarterback spot.

Oakland High's Wildcats' victory over the Dons last Friday night was in the nature of an upset. The issue was decided in the final two minutes of play, after the Dons had led throughout most of the contest when the Wildcats caught the Dons with their aerial defenses down and scored the clinching TD.

The game was a battle all the way, with both clubs showing spots of brilliance with hard offensive and defensive play.

OAKLAND BROKE the ice in the second quarter when diminutive Halfback Stan Nomura found a gaping hole up the middle and raced 45 yards to the score. The conversion try was low, and it was 6-0 in favor of the visitors.

The Dons came back swinging and took to the air, to tally when Quarterback Rich Markstein heaved an aerial to Dave Bojarsky. The play, good for 17 yards, found Bojarsky making the catch all alone deep in the end zone.

Stewart Busby, Don fullback, lifted the ball squarely between the uprights for the extra point, putting Acalanes out in front, 7-6.

IT WAS 7-6 at the half, as neither eleven reached the scoring stripe, and the Acalanes rooters had something to yell for when Halfback Harold Ecklund plunged over from seven yards out in the third quarter, and, with Busby kicking well on his second conversion try, the count was brought to 14-6.

Oakland came back late in the third period to bring the tally to 14-12 when Dave Ryan went over on a quarterback sneak from six yards out. The Dons blocked the conversion attempt.

Oakland won the game in the closing stages when, with two minutes on the clock, End Vodhen Fucles took a 28-yard pass from Quarterback Stan Peters and stepped two yards into the end zone for the winning score.

PLEASANT HILL RAMS put up a tough struggle last Friday in their grid game at Berkeley against St. Mary's High, but they went down to defeat, 12-0. "Packing the mail" for the St. Mary's Panthers during a tense phase of the tilt is a fleet St. Mary's halfback, with Ram Halfback Lon Salazar about to tackle him. In the background (No. 27—dark jersey) is Doug Jones, Ram tackle. Another Panther player (No. 56) is at left. —Sun photo by Mattson

Diablo Fence Takes Lead In Bowl League

In the Monument Bowl last week, Diablo Fence won 2 from Oscar's Pacific Tires in the Monument 785 Scratch League.

This put the winners in a one game lead over McFetridge Buick, which won 2 from Club Diablo and also O'Hara's Trophies which won 2 from Village Union Service.

Kempf Tractors won 2 from Tea No. 6. John Voegtle bowled a 196-192-183 for a 572 series which was high.

Robert Friskey of Club Diablo bowled a 235 to take over high game for the Monument 785 League.

In the Monument 750 Handicappers:

Cement Mixers led by Ed Gloria's 489 series won 4 from Monument Lumber to go into a tie with Willet & Henriksen Plumbing who won 3 from Royal Tire Service.

Contra Costa Times split 2 and 2 with the Nut Bowl while Mel's Men Shop took 4 from Ortland Plumbing.

Roy Miller with a 209 had high game for the evening and added a 187 and 153 for a 549 series to take high series for the evening.

U.C. Alums May Kick-off Games

University of California alumni and their friends may have informal buffet luncheons before every home football game of the current season at the California Alumni House on the Berkeley campus.

Reservations for the luncheons may be secured in advance from the California Alumni Association for $1.25 each.

Rams' Win Costs Mel Relaxation

Credit for the Pleasant Hill Rams' 32-26 victory over Livermore goes to the linemen the backs, and maybe just a little bit to Mel Alamano, Walnut Creek baseball commissioner.

Alamano told the boys just before the game, "If you guys win, I'll hot foot it around the downtown area in a pair of red shorts during the daytime."

Its been 22 years since Alamano was a 440 man at Oakland Technical High, but he figured, maybe, that he had a sure thing. You see, the Rams had never won a varsity game in two years of play!

But the boys did win, and they lost no time in collecting on their bet!

Allowed to keep a shirt but barelegged, Alamano doggedly sprinted around the block dodging pedestrians on Locust, Cypress, Main and etc.

To make sure he didn't falter or slip into a doorway for a respite, fellows and gals rode along side him in a Jeep.

"Winded? Sure was. But I didn't quit," Alamano commented proudly.

Matador JVs Play Knights This Afternoon

The Miramonte Matadors open their season this afternoon when they tackle the Las Lomas Knights in their first try at league bail.

The game will be on the junior varsity level, as Miramonte is but a two-year school.

Hampered by injuries plus a most ineligible players due to scholastic difficulties, the Matadors have a major task cut out for them in their opener.

ONE OF THE toughest blows was the loss of Halfback Gary Lucas, who has been a standout with his offensive and defensive play in practice sessions. An infected arm which turned to blood poisoning has resulted in a series of penicillin shots which have put Gary well on the road to recovery but have definitely put him out of the opener.

The patched-up lineup as announced by new headman Don Phillips finds Steve Cornwell and Bob Tesman at ends, with Tim Maloney and John O'Conner getting the call in the tackle spots.

Mike Albo and Mike Wilmers go as guards, with Bruce Hilger in the pivot spot.

The Matadors will be playing their first league tilt in their brief history, and in addition they will be playing their first contest of the 1956 season.

The Las Lomas Knghts, on the other hand, are veterans in league play and already have a 21-0 win over Amador, whom they played last Friday night.

Like the Matadors, the Knights have a new coach — Vere Butler, who appears to have whipped the Walnut Creek eleven into good shape in his few short days of practice with them.

HEAVY IN the line and long on experience, the Knights are definite favorites in the game to be played this afternoon on the new Miramonte turf.

Miramonte GAA Tourney Now On In Volley Ball

Sixty-five Miramonte High School girls have signed on in an eight-team round-robin Girls Athletic Association volley ball tournament.

Tournament play is held Tuesday afternoon and will run about four weeks.

Tournament play is held Tuesday afternoons and will run about four weeks.

Aside from volley ball, GAA members participate in basketball, badminton, softball and tennis.

Playoffs between GAA school associations are held on special inter-school "play days." Block awards are made for participation on the basis of a point record.

Mrs. Pat Castellucci, physical education instructor, is in charge of the Miramonte GAA.

Synchronized Swime Meet is At Las Lomas

Las Lomas High School played host to the Pacific Association of Amateur Athletic Union at a synchronized swim-meet, Saturday.

Division winners included solos: Loris Cortezzo of the Al Kallanki Swim School, Oakland, first place, 62.1 points; Marcia Blixt, second place, 61.8 points; Bobbie Benike, Athens Club, Oakland, third place, 53.6 points; Nancy Maede, Athens Club, fourth place, 49.5 points.

Injuries Hobble Knights After Early-Season Loss

The Las Lomas Knights drew a bye in league play, and Coach George De Klotz and his aides are just as happy for the reprieve.

Injuries have laid several Knights low, and the coaching staff is grateful for any "mending time" alloted to the team.

Tonight the staff will concentrate on scouting duties, with particular attention being given to Antioch, which plays the up and coming Mt. Diablo Red Devils under the lights at Concord.

DE KLOTZ'S ELEVEN, which wound up in second place last year, will have a tough row to hoe if it is to make a comparable showing this year.

The Knights, who started the season with a host of veterans, have been in tough luck as they have lost one key player after another to ol' man injury.

Halfback Duane Brown, the circuit's top scorer last season, was sidelined with a collar bone injury when early season practice had just begun.

Then Web Johnson was sidetracked with a turned ankle which hasn't responded to treatment. Webb was All-County center last year and, like Brown, hasn't seen service in a game this year.

LAST SATURDAY in the Drake game, quarterback Jim Symington went out in the second quarter with a banged-up arm and will be out for another three weeks.

Ken Stevens, the new fullback find, was shaken up in the second quarter at Anselmo, where the Drake game was played, and sat out the rest of the way.

Regular tackle Tom LaPerle has been far from his best after a siege of the flu.

Obviously, the heavy armor of the valiant Knights is beginning to rust and crack.

Stevens and LaPerle should be in top shape for the Antioch game next week. however, and that would improve the outlook considerably. The big problem now lies in finding an adequate replacement for Symington, who was rated as one of the better prep field generals.

The Knights opened with a bang two weeks ago when they scored a one-sided 19-0 win over the San Ramon Wolves. The tables went topsy-turvy last Saturday when Drake High of Anselmo stopped Las Lomas, 14-6.

THE GAME was even closer than the final score indicated, however, as the Marin eleven's final tally came in the game's closing minutes. The Knight's had bogged down short of the goal twice on what appeared to be touchdown drives.

The Drake crew got off to a fast start when they opened with a sweep to right end and a pass deep to the left which resulted in a TD. The pass and run covered 30 yards.

The conversion kick was good and the score was 7-0.

LAS LOMAS wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard once they got their hands on the pigskin. The Knights drove to the Marin 40 yard line after taking the kickoff on their own 15.

From there, Symington tossed to halfback Bergdale, who went the distance to make the score 7-6. It stayed that way as the Knights blew the conversion try.

The half wound up with the 7-6 score intact, but the third quarter began with the local club on the march. It drove all the way to spitting distance of paydirt, with four downs to go on the Drake one foot line.

THE KNIGHTS were below par partly due to injuries, with the only standout being Dick Bergdale, who is fast making a name for himself with his all-around halfback play.

The only other shining light was Dan Van Voorhis, who is developing into a top-flight end, particularly on the defensive side.

Fumbles, Aggressive Foes Spell Doom for P.H. Ram 11

Seven fumbles and an aggressive St. Mary's line charge spelled doom for the Pleasant Hill Rams in a sloppy 12-0 game played at Berkeley Friday afternoon.

The Panthers won the toss and elected to receive the first kick, from the toe of Mike Mayne. Seven plays, one first down and a double penalty later, Pleasant Hill had the ball; after losing five yards in four plays, Pleasant Hill lost the ball.

IN THE NEXT series of plays came the first of the Rams many disastrous fumbles, as quarterback Al Locatelli, pressed hard by Panther linement, shoved the ball through the arms of the receiving halfback.

St. Mary's duplicated the fumble and Fred Rupprecht recovered for Pleasant Hill. The Rams, who played practically flawless ball against Livermore last week, lost two yards and the ball in the following series.

After forcing the Panthers to punt, Pleasant Hill fumbled again. "In with the defense out with the offense," was the slogan for the Rams from this point on.

ONE DEPARTMENT that went well for the Rams was the aerial attack. The passes looked great, but no one caught them. The final score would have been 18-12 in favor of Pleasant Hill if the combination had clicked.

Tom Larscheid, John Turner and Bob March turned in good performances for the Rams, in spite of the loss.

Tonight's the night for the Rams. Between them and glory stands the Acalanes Dons. Outweighed and, supposedly, outclassed, Pleasant Hill is rated underdog in the match.

Injuries, so rare in the opening practice weeks for Pleasant Hill, now plague the Rams. At least one first string lineman is in question for the game.

It looks one-sided from here, but Pleasant Hill has been starving too long for that first league win to let it go without a struggle.

GET SET! warns John Turner, left, a Pleasant Hill student, and Mel Alamano braces for a dash around the block in downtown Walnut Creek. This was Alamano's penalty for guessing that the Pleasant Hill Rams would lose to Livermore. Instead the local gridders won, 32-6. Insuring that the procedure is according to Hoyle are Chuck Exner and Warren Millham, both of Pleasant Hill. —Ted Gurney photo

Attitude Played Big Part In Local Gridiron Losses

By ERWIN MATTSON

It was a bad week for the local three when Las Lomas, Pleasant Hill and Acalanes all took the short end of the count in last Friday's games after all had won their openers.

There could be a number of reasons. One—the opposition was too strong. Second—injuries and breaks. Third—mental attitude.

In two cases, Acalanes and Pleasant Hill, it could well be that number three is the answer.

I saw both games, Acalanes versus Oakland and Pleasant Hill versus St. Mary's High of Berkeley.

The Rams and Dons were in good shape physically, but due to comparatively easy first game wins both teams evidently had letdowns. Granted, opposing teams were high and at a peak.

One other factor was that the opposing teams were able to scout the Rams and Dons while safe from retaliation as they drew byes the previous week.

Scouting can do a lot in setting up defenses.

One problem definitely was attitude. At the halftime some of the players at at least one of the games had their minds on more than playing the second half of a football game.

In fact, the big question in the dressing room was, "Are you getting your girl and going to the Walnut Festival after the game?"

Then they wondered why they lost!

I took moving pictures of the Acalanes-Oakland game . . . in fact, it was my first try, and Lady Luck was with me. I must have pressed the right button at the right time as the film came out in good style—much to the embarrassment of some players, as well as to the joy of others.

Movies really tell the story as it's all there in black and white. Time and time again a miscue on the part of one player proved to be disastrous.

Several times one block could have resulted in a score. A missed defensive assignment really hit where it hurt most—in the scoring column.

One thing certain, the pictures are a great aid in coaching and they also enable players to see their good and bad points as they could in no other way.

The greatest point the films make is that a change of just a few assignments missed or carried out can decide the average ball game.

Tennis Booms at Country Club as Top Pro Engaged

Twenty teams recently competed in the first round-robin mixed doubles tennis tournament in the history of the Orinda Country Club. Prizes were awarded to both winners and runners-up.

Orinda club girls also launched a championship tourney, with 14 youngsters competing for honors.

Among the contenders were:

Mary McFarland, Diane Traverso, Tina Clark, Dana Cook, Lolita Boysen, Helen Moylan, Patricia Murphy, Caryn Anderson, Diane Bouhahan, Penny Phillips, Judy Murphy, Thea Jensen and Cherie Sharp.

Tennis players at the club have been given a boost as Wilmer M. Hines, former member of the U.S. Davis Cup Team, considered one of America's finest coaches, was engaged as the first club professional.

Here Is Chance For You to Help!

Where do you take your children when they need organized group experience under able, trained leadership?

Where do your friends and neighbors take their childrn when they need special help, such as families with children who need special guidance and help due to a mentally retarded condition?

Chances are, in the first case, you encourage your youngster to join the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls or the Young Men's Christian Association.

In the second case, the chances are you consider the Mental Health Society or the Council for the Retarded.

But the probability, especially when it comes to work with youngsters in our area, is that whatever the organization it will get the majority of its support from the United Crusade.

The county-wide United Crusade Campaign gets under way Monday. Hundreds of volunteer workers have put in hours of planning and labor to provide information for you, so that you will know where your money goes when you make that all-important donation.

Where does it go? What do you get for your investment?

First, you support nine local agencies . . . agencies which are working directly in your home area, helping your children and neighbors. These include Volunteer Bureau, Mental Health Society, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls of Pleasant Hill and Diablo Valley, YMCA, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Second, you contribute to many agencies which are working throughout the Bay Area, but which are serving local families just as surely as if their office were located next door to your home.

These include such organizations as family counseling agencies, U.S.O., Red Cross and national foundations for arthritis, multiple sclerosis and cerebral palsy.

It would be provincial indeed to refuse a contribution on the grounds that some of these agencies do not have an office located in your particular community.

This would be tantamount to refusing to contribute to the multiple sclerosis foundation because you are fortunate enough not to have multiple sclerosis.

Many able and conscientious local residents have not only given their full support to the United Crusade campaign, but have given freely of their time and talents.

All these people ask of us is that we donate what we can afford to see that these agencies continue to function for the betterment of the community.

So remember the slogan of the United Crusade this year . . . "Give them a hand . . . the one that's in your pocket." And when the residential drive comes around October 15, do your part, and maybe a little bit more.

After all, you're the one who will benefit in the long run.

WHEN YOU GIVE to the United Crusade, you give to your children, as well as to those agencies which help everybody in your community. Demonstrating this fact are participants in this year's drive for funds. Left to right are Gordon McNulty, business chairman; Val Thomas, Boy Scout; Mrs. Marilyn Glover, residential chairman; Sandra Adams, Girl Scout, and Ted Barcelon, campaign chairman. The youngsters represent two of the nine local agencies to be benefitted by the campaign.

What They Say

Cooperation School Key

Well, Johnny and his classmates are back in school, facing another year of guidance and instruction from all fronts.

Traditionally, Johnny's mother is the one who wakes him in the morning, gives him a "breakfast of champions" from under a prize-winning box top, combs his hair and sends him on his way to the little red (or modernistic, glass-encased, air-conditioned) school house.

WHEN HE ARRIVES, his teacher beams down from a large desk situated in front of the blackboard, and his day of book-larnin' begins.

After school, it's usually Dad who sits him down for a period of homework, while problems of what he's to study in the coming days are being mulled over by teachers and the school board.

This is the traditional picture, clear and concise, with each adult in Johnny's life doing his individual part to give the boy an education.

But the picture jumbles like a jigsaw puzzle when it includes parents, teachers and administrators working hand-in-hand in all phases of the educational process . . . a situation becoming more and more predominant in our local schools.

MODERN EDUCATORS agree that such parent-teacher cooperation is necessary. Its success has been left up to the individual schools and districts.

How's the system working here? Are local relationships between parents and faculty making it successful? Do the various parent organizations help the cause?

HERE'S WHAT various local people feel about it.

Mrs. Anthony Markus, 70 Van Tassel Lane, Orinda, feels that there's plenty of cooperation, and that it's a good thing.

With a 1st grader and 4th grader attending the Sleepy Hollow School, Mrs. Markus thinks "parent-teacher relationships here, in fact, are much better than they were in the East," from where she and her family moved five years ago.

"I CAN SEE where present activity is bringing a much closer relationship between parents and teachers," answered Mrs. Theodore Nasser, 3690 Nordstrom Lane, Lafayette.

She has two children at the Vallecito School, Mrs. Nasser disclosed, and the cooperation there is "beautiful."

"Children actually enjoy going to school more when they know parents and teachers are cooperating," she added.

"EXCELLENT RELATIONS" were also reported at the Burton School by Mrs. Arthur Sell, 686 St. Mary's Road, Lafayette.

Mrs. Snell qualified her statement by adding that "the school is new, and both parents and teachers have a lot to learn." She has a little girl attending the school.

"Cooperation is a real problem," she stated, "but I think we're solving it."

Mrs. John E. Rinne, 25 Van Tassel Lane, Orinda, not only thinks cooperation is important, but is helping take steps to improve it. She's a member of the Education Advisory Committee of Orinda, which is currently attempting to instill renewed school interest in parents by means of a "stock" plan survey.

Tomorrow's the Day; Big Jon, Sparkie Go at it

Big Jon and Sparkie, stars of the A B C radio network program, No School Today, will appear for three shows at the Berkeley Community Theater tomorrow under the auspices of Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

From city to city across the nation, these two characters have been carrying on a running contest to outwit each other on their stage performances. The score at last report seems to be slightly in favor of Big Jon.

Sparkie is the "little elf from the Land of Makebelieve who wants to be a real boy."

The songs dances and hilarious antics of this famous pair have been enthusiastically received by more than a million delighted children and adults who are the "young in heart," according to Mrs. Duncan Knudsen of Poplar Branch, chairman of the Project.

Tickets for this hospital benefit event are available in advance at the Sherman Clay box office in Oakland, the Campana Music Store in Lafayette; at the office of the Branches, 731 52nd Street, Oakland; and at the theater box office on the day of performances.

Children are admitted for 50 cents, adults for 75 cents.

Tax Districts Begin Levies

Nine new special taxing districts are levying taxes for the first time this year, the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association reported today.

The districts and their tax rates include: Orinda parking district, .02 cents; sanitation district 7-A (near Port Chicago), .21 cents; lighting service area at Clyde, .06 cents; Montalvin, .55 cents; Tara Hills, .73 cents and Vine Hill, .73 cents; flood control zone No. 8, .10 cents and No. 8-A, .05 cents; and storm drain maintenance district No. 1, .39 cents.

Letters to The Editor

RE: ST. MARY'S ROAD

Dear Editor:

The "Ode to Saint Mary's Road" by Mrs. S.G. in the September 21 Sun brings up a growing local problem that was investigated in connection with the Lafayette general plan. The prosaic facts appear to be:

1. The 1952 Tudor report showed a significant capacity deficiency on St. Mary's Road, and it was therefore included in the county road bond program for "partial resurfacing and shoulder stabilization" at rather modest cost.

2. Since then the Burton-Glenside area has become the fastest-growing part of Lafayette, increasing traffic as well as excavations of the road for utilities.

3. The county road commissioner is aware of this situation, but has delayed any major improvement of St. Mary's Road until the frontage roads, underpasses, etc., of the St. Mary's College-Pleasant Hill Interchange leg of the Shepherd Canyon freeway have been determined.

Meanwhile the county has decided to acquire as much as possible of the Sacramento-Northern right-of-way, when it is abandoned. Although most of this is intended as hiking and riding trails, parts of it lend themselves to the relocation of parts of St. Mary's Road and other roads. For example, the road could be moved away from in front of Burton School and onto the railroad right-of-way.

As a result, the delay is leading to the virtual realignment and reconstruction of St. Mary's Road, at several times the amount of money provided in the bond issue. In the interim, the county feels that anything more than maintenance of the present road would be largely a waste of money.

In summary, we will probably have to put up with the present road for another year or two, in return for a better permanent solution.

FREEWAY ROUTES

Dear Editor:

What exactly is the Diablo Highway Improvement Federation? With such an impressive name there must be trained people in the group.

Where do these people live and are they well enough acquainted with the problems in their areas? Or are they just interested citizens, like so many of us, trying to keep up with local difficulties?

The lengthy quote in last week's issue of this paper made the group's stand regarding the Shepherd Canyon Freeway Routes very clear.

Many of the people invoved in this matter do not live in the area. Those that do are actively trying to have the route changed to an area where there are no houses.

Utah Construction Company has offered the State Highway Commission the right-of-way (through as much as they own of Moraga town site) through Moraga and into Indian Valley.

This land is valuable and if it is given to the State the cost of Route 2 (Indian Valley Route(should be lessened. The figures on the other routes involved should be learned on October 3 at the next public meeting on this matter.

What is in the future for the town of Moraga? No matter which route the freeway takes Moraga will be a city before we know it; not a rural community. The Indian Valley Route would not destroy an existing residential area, but Routes 4, 3A or 3 will.

Yes, we do need a freeway in the Moraga area, but why can't it be in a valley where there are no houses? There are other instances where the State Highway Commission has chosen a freeway route . . . longer and more costly when the objections were deemed valid. Why not in this case?

Under The Sun

Lots of free advice

Today I have some sage words of wisdom for the fathers in the audience. If your good wife is a Den Mother — well, love, honor and cherish her, for a Den Mother's life is not an easy one.

I know. I became a Den Mother last Saturday. My job was "easy" — I just packed the Cubs into the car and headed for the Cal-Baylor football game in Berkeley. Nothing much happened — except a slight scrap between two young cubs as we approached the tunnel. This only resulted in one (1) bloody nose.

But seriously, we had a swell time. Last year we went to an Oaks baseball game and next year we'll pick out another sports event.

If your kids or cubs have the sports urge or you wish to develop it, remember the high school football games during the many weeks ahead. Check The Sun sports page for good sports coverage each week. The prep games are dandy and everyone will have fun.

Go get shot . . .

Today must be "free advice day," for here's a note from Dr. Silverman:

Have you started your children on polio shots yet? And what about you, papa and mama? You should also take them.

A daughter of a friend of mine recently died of polio. She had five children. All authorities endorse the polio vaccine. The county is giving free shots to children and pregnant mothers. Call the county health department in Martinez or watch The Sun for hours and location. Or, of course, your doctor is prepared to administer the shots.

And while at the doctor's office — why not ask for the first of the flu shot series? Members of The Sun staff have been taking flu shots (voluntarily, of course) for about four years and have found them most effective. My doctor said a new flu vaccine has been developed and is supposed to be better than ever.

Still on the pulpit

Well, if you think this column is going to stop preaching now, you are wrong. Here is part of a letter received from Mrs. Rose Hawkins, the Mt. Diablo Council, P.T.A., safety chairman:

"Have you taught your child how to wait safely at the bus stop? Many parents are unaware of the danger their children are creating for themselves at the bus stops by horsing around, running around, running back home, etc.

"The school district is responsible for children's safety when they get on the bus. Parents, therefore, are responsible for their safety while waiting for the bus," Mrs. Hawkins continued. "Discipline at bus stops is necessary as is a certain amount of parental supervision to keep children behaved and on the shoulder of the road.

"Perhaps a Parents' Patrol could be organized at critical stops. Perhaps parents could help by keeping the children home until bus time," the safety chairman pointed out. "This problem needs publicity. Will The Sun help?"

Everyone must help!

Yes, Mrs. Hawkins we will be happy to help. A feature story on the problem is being prepared. An editorial picture has been scheduled. This is a serious problem and requires cooperation of the community and its parents.

Too well do I recall the death of a youngster just a few years ago. He was killed as he crawled under a school bus, trying to retrieve a piece of paper that blew under the wheels.

This is your problem and mine. Let's do something about it and the first place to start is with our own children.

What do you think?

It's 'Love,' Between Girl And Her Fairyland House

By NORMAN COLBY

Nine year-old Judy Anderson of 350 Montecello Drive, Walnut Creek, is in a tizzy of happiness.

Although too young to marry, she already has her own little home, just behind mother and dad's, and it's the strangest, most wonderful home in the whole world, she insists.

A gift from the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, the "fairyland" doll house was admired by thousands of folk who visited the exhibition tent during the Walnut Festival.

NO ONE WAS more entranced than little Judy, who had persuaded dad, Russell Anderson, a planner and estimator for the U. S. Navy, to accompany her to the tent, making her eligible to receive the dollhouse after the Festival was over.

She had seen the dollhouse of last year's Festival, shortly after the Andersons had moved from El Cerrito, and had fallen in love with it.

But this year's house was even more wonderful!

Saturday night she went to sleep murmuring, "I don't think I'll ever get it, I don't think I'll ever get it." But a phone call from the Realty Board the next day changed all that.

HER MOTHER told The Sun, "Judy's just old enough to realize what a wonderful thing it is, but still young enough to really enjoy it!"

Wayne Bailey, Board secretary, commented, "This was specially fine, since it seems like each year some little boy would win!"

There is a little boy in the picture — Judy's seven year-old brother, Gary — but he has taken a back seat in the matter.

"The dollhouse arrived Monday, and Judy assigned Gary as the mailman. All he was allowed to do was deliver the mail to the little post box in front," said Mrs. Anderson.

THE SHOCK didn't wear off for the young lady right away, and for hours, she was heard to exclaim, "It's so cute, it's so adorable!"

"Judy has already moved in her little tables, a dresser, rug and other things. The house is tall enough for her to walk about inside, and she's already planning to make curtains with her sewing machine," her mother added.

The multi-colored, Disney-like house was made by the Jack Marchant Company of Lafayette, and donated for the Festival. This is an annual gesture by the Contra Costa Realtors.

THE BEAUX ARTS Ball was fun for everyone in the Walnut Knolls Association, including these costumed characters, from left to right, Fred Karlsrud, Bety Cameron, Gladys Nodder, Rhoda Spetszen and Gene Doran. The gaiety was on September 15, and some of the next morning.

SERIOUS TOPICS and light conversation were both apparent at the Beaux Arts Ball. Here it's a discussion between Evelyn Imhoff and Bill Egan, whose shirt was reportedly designed to knock Bing Crosby out of the fashion columns.

Newlyweds Oslin Home to Friends

At home to family and friends in Pleasant Hill, are the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jean Oslin.

Oslin and his bride, the former Miss Arlene Mae Trethway were married in High Street Presbyterian Church in Oakland wih the Reverand Fred Trevitt officiating.

The bride wore a white lace gown fashioned with a floor length skirt; her illusion veil was attached to a pearl tiara, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lillies-of-the-valley.

Maid of honor was Miss Susan Tretheway, sister of the bride, and secondary attendants were the Misses Joan Dix and Dorothy Culver. The bridal attendants wore dresses of pastel net in different shades, made with ballerina length skirts and each carried a cluster of chrysanthemums.

Ray Oslin, the bridegroom's brother was best man, and guests were seated by Don Nunnally and Bennie Edgar.

Local Fashion Shops Show Wares in SF

Streamlined "sheaths" and "the costume look" — consisting of jacket-dresses and coat-dresses — are among the most popular designs this fall, with velvet and lace fabrics holding their own.

This was the decision rendered by fashion experts after the recently held annual Late Fall and Holiday Market Week at San Francisco's Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

With several local shops displaying their most fashionable wares, more than 2,000 clothing store owners and buyers from throughout the West were represented.

Among the retailors receiving a West Coast Salesmen's Association "Emblem of Quality" for their exhibits were the following Lafayette store owners:

E. B. Worswick, Fiesta Fashions, 971 Moraga Road; Claudis and Earl Pierce, Claudys, 3559 Mt. Diablo Boulevard; Mr. and Mrs. Aleshin and Mr. and Mrs. Fredman, The Emporium, 3545 Mt Diablo Boulevard.

Thelma Patterson, owner of The Stork to School Shop of Rheem Center, Moraga, also received an emblem for her display.

AAUW Group To Aid Drive For Library

The Social Studies group of the Walnut Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women has announced as its project for this year, it will participate in the effort to obtain a new library building for the city of Walnut Creek.

Mrs. John P. Fraser, Social Studies chairman for 1956-57, is a graduate of the University of California and is a member of the Walnut Creek Public Library Association.

Speaking before the members of the Walnut Creek AAUW, Mrs. Fraser pointed out that there are twice as many books in circulation from the Walnut Creek Library as can be placed on the shelves in the present library building, and the demand on library facilities is constantly increasing.

Local Couple Honeymoons In Carmel

An Orinda man and Lafayette girl are currently honeymooning in Carmel following an exchange of wedding vows last Saturday night at Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church in Orinda.

Marilyn Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Davis, 1140 Oleander Drive, Lafayette, was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage to Robert Darlington Harrison Jr.

With the Rev. J. Henry Thomas officiating, Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Darlington Harrison, 7 Camino Lenada, Orinda, had as his best man his brother, George Harrison.

Rev. Thomas had reasons for a very personal interest in the ceremony, as he had joined in wedlock both the bride's and the groom's parents.

As she walked up the aisle, Marilyn was dressed in a gown of silk tissue taffeta in candlelight shade. A band of alencon lace embellished by pearls outlined the off-the-shoulder neckline.

From her wreath of orange blossoms draped an elbow length French illusion veil. In the bride's hand was a bible adorned with orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Attending the new Mrs. Harrison was her sister, Liz Davis. Others in her contingent were Carolyn Goforth, Lynn Sellman, Karen Johanson, Linda St. Hill, Wendy Palner and Elizabeth Beall.

In the benedict's party were ushers Ned Davis, twin brother of the bride, Alan Bottomley, Peter Sheaff, Joe Foster, Tom Johnson and Bob Novak.

Ballerina length dresses of aqua chiffon was worn by the bridesmaids. They carried pink gladiolas.

Mrs. Davis was gowned princess line dress of mauve peau de soie, while the groom's mother wore a sheath dress of Alice blue.

Meadow Pool Dedicated After 8 Years' Planning

The beautiful Meadow Pool in Orinda was officially dedicated last Sunday.

Many of the spectators watched the show from vantage points on the hill above the pool, in the shade of the giant oaks. Over 300 persons attended the ceremonies.

Outgoing President Frank Leibold Jr. was given an ovation for his years of leadership.

As pointed out by Tevis Thompson, the efforts to build a pool in this area date back eight years, and construction was repeatedly delayed.

Leibold expressed the gratitude of all members for the professional talents freely given the pool by the architects, engineers, construction men, lawyers and accountants who are among the 250 members of the pool.

Scores more were thanked for their services in the construction of the facilities, landscaping, and service on the many vital committees.

Leibold pointed out that practically every one of the 250 members had not only contributed a minimum of 25 hours of labor but served in many other functions as well.

Officers and directors of Meadow Pool, who were elected September 18, were introduced.

The current Directors are:

Fred Bartlett, Fred Cook, Rod Jenks, Herb Waterman, Ed Hicks,, Carl Moore and Frank Leibold Jr.

New officers are: Carlistle Lane, president; Carl Moore, vice-president, Fred Bartlett, treasurer, and Dorrie Exley, secretary.

Feature of the Dedication Program was the Synchonized Swimming to music, demonstrated by swimmers coached and directed by Mrs. Betty Brandlein. They have been awarded many national honors in events.

Diving exhibitions were given by Bob Farris, Karen Rhoda, and 10-year old Johnny Spinola. All are members of Meadow Pool. The program was arranged by the Social Committee, with Laurie Patterson in direct charge of the day's activities.

Officers of Delta Delta Delta Mothers' Club at the University of California were entertained recently by Mrs. R. E. MacMahon, the new president.

The club program for the year was formulated at a meeting held following the luncheon.

It was decided that the first activity for this semester would be a luncheon on October 9, to be held at the chapter house, to welcome the mothers of the new pledges.
